WHEELER IS CALLED TO EXPLAIN CHARGES OF DEBAUCHED VOTE

Clash With Reed Begins This Morning at 10 o'Clock.

$250,000 LOST FUND OF DRYS DISCUSSED

Pittsburgh Mayor Repudiates Bread-and-Butter Talk to City Employees.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

The long-awaited cross-examination of Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Antisaloon league, by Senator Reed of Missouri is to be the star feature of today's proceedings before the Senate subcommittee investigating the expenditures of the Pennsylvania primaries. A subpoena has been issued for Mr. Wheeler to appear before the committee at 10 o'clock.

Members of the committee decided to summon Mr. Wheeler after Senator Reed's attention had been called to a statement given out for publication by Mr. Wheeler, in which he charged that the wets had debauched the primaries in Pennsylvania despite the preponderance of dry sentiment in that State.

The wet and dry issue was before the committee in another form when the purport of the Wheeler statement became known late in the evening to Mr. Reed. John J. Flynn, member of the Pennsylvania house of representatives and a Democrat, testified to charges made by the Women's Christian Temperance union that a fund of about $250,000 collected for prohibition enforcement had disappeared mysteriously and was not available for use in the campaign.

Fund Intended for State.

This fund was collected by the drys, Mr. Flynn said, after Gov. Pinchot some time ago charged that the State legislature refused to appropriate sufficient money to enforce prohibition properly. The fund was to be a donation to the State by the W. C. T. U.

But when the campaign started, the prohibition backers split on the question whether they would support Pinchot or Pepper, Mr. Flynn said. In a quarrel that followed, the question of the lost dry fund "just naturally came up," according to the witness.

Mr. Flynn was the Democrat who was called into conference by Joseph R. Grundy and W. L. Mellon at the Mayflower hotel when Mr. Grundy decided to urge Mr. Fisher for governor. Mr. Grundy, it was stated, wanted Mr. Flynn, who knew Fisher intimately, to tell Mr. Mellon about his qualifications for the high office.

Upholds Large Expenses.

Answering questions by Senator Goff, Mr. Flynn, as a Democratic observer, said the primary laws made it necessary to spend large sums in Pennsylvania because the nomination was equivalent to election.

Dillon Soon to Float German Steel Loan

New York, June 16 (By A. P.).—Clarence Dillon, head of the banking firm of Dillon, Read & Co., returned today on the Olympic from Europe, where he concluded negotiations for financing the consolidation of German's leading steel companies into the United Steel Works Corporation. Flotation of a loan for about $30,000,000, he said, might be expected within a fortnight.

Mr. Dillon said that reports from automobile, rubber and other companies in this country, in which the firm is interested, revealed that business was better than a year ago.

Skill Makes Queen Look As If Bobbed

Brussels, June 16 (By A. P.).—Queen Elizabeth's hair is not shingled, bobbed or cropped. Count P. De Lannoy, grand master of the house of the Queen of Belgium's charming queen has had her hair cut off, to conform with the prevailing fashions.

"If her majesty looks as though her hair were shingled," says the master of the royal house, "that is because of the skill of her hairdresser, who is able to make the queen's hair appear as if it were cut, but no scissors have touched her hair."

WED IN NEWPORT

Mrs. Benjamin R. Holcombe, formerly Mrs. Sylvanus Stokes, Jr., who was married yesterday.

MRS. STOKES MARRIED TO LIEUT. B. HOLCOMBE

Quiet Wedding at Bride's Summer Home Surprise to Newport.

DIVORCED IN FEBRUARY

Newport, R. I., June 16 (By A. P.).—While the attention of Newport was centered upon the entertainment of Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Princess Louise, of Sweden, this afternoon, Mrs. Margaret Fahnestock Stokes, socially prominent in Newport and Washington, and Lieut. Benjamin Royal Holcombe, U. S. N., junior naval aid to President Coolidge, were quietly married at Bell Rock, the summer home of Mrs. Stokes.

The ceremony, which was witnessed by less than a dozen guests, was performed by Chaplain G. S. Rents, of the U. S. S. Wright, air squadron mother ship. Included among the guests was Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Douglas Robinson, who came from Washington to attend. The wedding came as a surprise in local social circles.

It was Mrs. Holcombe's second marriage. She obtained a divorce from Sylvanus Stokes, Jr., of Washington, in Paris, last February. Lieut. Holcombe, a native of Newport, Ore., is attached to the bureau of aeronautics.

Engagement Long Rumored.

Mrs. Stokes' engagement to Lieut. Holcombe had been rumored in Washington society for some time. She is the daughter of Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock, of Washington, New York and Newport, and made her debut about eight years ago at a tea given by her mother in her home, 2311 Massachusetts avenue northwest. She was married that year to Sylvanus Stokes.

Mr. and Mrs. Stokes were leaders of the younger smart set of Washington society. Mrs. Stokes was prominent at many fashionable costume balls, where she wore gowns on which time and

GREAT STORM RAZES ENTIRE INDIAN TOWN

Casualties Believed Heavy; Railway Cars Blown Miles Along Rails.

London, June 16 (By A. P.).—A Daily Mail dispatch from Kurachi, British India, says that a great storm has reduced the town of Dhandhuka near Ahmedabad, Bombay, to a heap of ruins. Not a building within a mile of the town escaped destruction, and it is feared the casualties are numerous.

Two children were carried 100 yards, roofs of houses were whirled about like feathers and railroad cars were blown along the tracks for miles.

Trio Get 13 Years For Attacking Girl

Special to The Washington Post. Sycamore, Ill., June 16.—Three students of Northern Illinois Teachers' college, who were on trial here for attacking Dorothy Westervelt, coed, were found guilty today and sentenced to thirteen years in the State penitentiary at Joliet. The youths are Leonard Rich, Stanley S. Hurt and Emerson Wilson.

WAN, FREE, ORDERS FIRST BEEFSTEAK TASTED IN 7 YEARS

Has Offer to Join Movies; Will Go to New Jersey Farm to Recuparate.

CHEERED BY CROWDS; PAYS VISIT TO JAIL

Fully Exonerated by Judge; Issues Statement Thanking Those Who Aided Him.

Free after seven years of imprisonment, Ziang Sun Wan returned to the "outside" world yesterday and immediately plunged into the business of living.

One of the first things Wan did was to order a big beefsteak. Not only was it the first time he had tasted of this delicacy in seven years, but the first time in that period he used a knife and fork. In the jail he had been limited to a large spoon.

Wan also made his first telephone call in seven years, and last night he renewed his acquaintance with a feather bed. In the few moments of leisure he had he thoughtfully considered an offer to enter motion pictures and other offers to write for magazines and newspapers. He writes well.

Wan Completely Exonerated.

With a swiftness that was in strong contrast to his three long trials, Wan yesterday was completely exonerated of any connection with the Chinese triple murder here in 1919. The indictments charging him specifically with each killing were nolle prossed, as was an indictment charging his brother Wan with forging the $5,000 check in the case. The entire proceeding required less than twenty minutes.

Within a few days the two brothers will leave for Oakland, N. J., where is located the 300-acre farm of Father Peter J. O'Callaghan, the priest who organized the fight to save Wan's life. There Wan will drink his fill of the things his aesthetic soul has craved these past seven years—the sunshine, the fragrant air and the trees and flowers. There also he will have opportunity to take long walks. More than anything else, he thought of walking in the sunshine while he paced his cell in the District jail.

Eventually, Wan and Van will return to China to see their mother and sister. Their mother, who is blind, does not know to this day that Wan was involved in the triple murder. Yesterday Wan was visibly worried about his mother, because he had not heard from her in more than a month.

Celebrated as a Trial.

The case of Wan, an epic in local court history, came to an end yesterday in dramatic fashion. Criminal court was crowded as it has seldom been crowded before and

WAN GRANTED FREEDOM AFTER 7 YEARS IN JAIL

WASHINGTON TRAIN HIT; 5 KILLED, MANY INJURED

An Express From Chicago Smashes Into Rear of Pullman Bound for Capital.

CRASH CAUSE UNKNOWN

Pittsburgh (Thursday), June 17 (By A. P.).—Five passengers were known to have been killed and an unknown number injured late last night when Pennsylvania train No. 40, from Chicago, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, en route to New York, crashed into the rear of train No. 50, Pittsburgh to Washington near Gray station, Westmoreland county. The dead were in a Pullman of train 50.

The railroad offices here had only meager information concerning the wreck, but it was said that from reports the Pullman was telegraphed. A list of dead was not obtainable. The Pittsburgh-to-Washington train left here at 10:20 and No. 40 at 10:35. Railroad officials were at a loss to know how the accident happened.

Girl Finds Big Snake Coiled on Dresser

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., June 16.—A five-foot black snake, coiled on top of her dresser, greeted with hisses the 16-year-old daughter of Cleveland Shoemaker, tenant on the Hammond farm near Keedysville yesterday when she reached for her powder box.

The reptile, which was looking into the mirror, was killed by men who hastened into the room when the girl screamed.

Hail Is 5 Feet Deep In Wind Cave Park

Hot Springs, S. Dak., June 16 (By A. P.).—Nearly four inches of rain, accompanied by hail that piled four and five feet deep in spots, fell in Wind Cave park yesterday. Supt. Roy Brazel reported today.

The storm covered a radius of about five miles.

MEXICAN LABOR MAY SEIZE U. S. FACTORY

Ambassador Sheffield Sees Foreign Secretary in Regard to Threat.

Mexico City, June 16 (By A. P.).—James R. Sheffield, American Ambassador to Mexico, made today official representations to Aaron Saenz, the Mexican foreign secretary, regarding threats by the Mexican confederation of labor to seize the El Globo bed and mattress factory, owned by E. B. Welch, an American, in Mexico city. While the American embassy refused to make an official statement, the news was obtained by the Associated Press.

In consequence of a labor dispute the Mexican confederation of labor closed the El Globo factory last April.

Ambassador Sheffield, who called at the Mexican foreign office in company with Arthur Bliss Lane, first secretary of the embassy, informed Gen. Saenz that the labor federation had removed from the factory material valued at 17,000 to 20,000 pesos and had notified Mr. Welch it would confiscate the entire plant unless he paid the workmen 5,000 pesos for their idle period and reemployed all former workers.

5 PERSONS LOSE LIVES IN SLEEPING CAR FIRE

30 Other Passengers Escape the Flames by Leaping Through Windows.

BRIDE IS ONE VICTIM

Los Angeles, Calif., June 16 (By A. P.).—Five persons were burned to death and upward of 30 others escaped unhurt early today when a fire of undetermined origin turned a cross-country tourist sleeper into an inferno of flame at Crystal Sliding, Nev.

Mrs. J. G. King, of Drummond, Mont., a bride of nine days, who was on a honeymoon trip with her husband, a railroad clerk, was the only victim identified tonight. King escaped by leaping through a window.

The unidentified bodies were those of two women, one man and a child. All have been removed to Las Vegas, Nev., where a coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow.

Passengers aboard the car said they were aroused from sleep by the flames which spread so quickly that they could not reach the doors and had to jump out of windows to safety. King said that both she and Mrs. King rolled out of their berths and tried to make for the door. Flames blocked this exit and King smashed his way through a window. He said he believed his wife was following him, but learned too late that she had been trapped.

The destroyed tourist sleeper was part of the Continental Limited which left Los Angeles last night for Salt Lake City. At the outbreak of the fire, the train crew cut out the car on the slide track. Later it was taken to Caliente, Nev., where the wreckage was searched, five bodies were recovered.

Cry of Fire in Dream Sends Man to Death

Greenville, S. C., June 16 (By A. P.).—A dream in which someone shouted "Fire" caused the death today of a man believed to be Jack Estine. He leaped from the second floor of a hotel to escape the flames and died a few hours later.

$15,549,906 ASKED IN DISTRICT SCHOOL ESTIMATE OF 1928

$5,648,000 for Buildings Included in Budget for Next Year.

CONSTRUCTION FUNDS GREATEST ON RECORD

Appointments Approved and Cadet Uniform Change Is Sanctioned.

The District commissioners will be asked today to include estimates for $15,549,906 for public school appropriations in the District budget for the fiscal year of 1928. Of this amount, $5,648,000 will be used for the purchase of land and the construction of buildings and playgrounds, and is the largest sum ever asked for under the five-year building program. It is expected to relieve the over-crowded conditions in the schools now experienced in all sections of the city.

The paring knife of budget officials is not feared in connection with the appropriations asked for under the five-year building program, as provisions of the act stipulate that appropriations under the building program shall not go amount asked for only brings those below $4,037,000 a year, and the appropriations up to date.

Resides estimates of appropriations already recommended, the finance committee of the board of education, of which Charles F. Carusi is chairman, late yesterday asked for the following appropriations:

For the first school division, land sites for the Jackson school playgrounds, the E. V. Brown school and unnamed schools on Wesley Heights, at Connecticut avenue and Union streets, and at Foxhall road and Calvert streets northwest. Estimates on these sites amount to $750,400.

Ask Georgetown School.

An additional appropriation of $275,000 was also asked for the Gordon Junior High school to be built in Georgetown, and for a land site of the Reno Junior High school, to be built in the first division.

Appropriations totaling $473,000 are asked for the third school division for the purpose of completing the Brightwood Junior High school, construction of a gymnasium and assembly hall at the Takoma school, completion of the Barnard school at Fifth and Decatur streets northwest, and purchase of land sites for the Hubbard school playgrounds, Petworth school playgrounds and Johnson school playgrounds.

More than $200,000 was asked for a new Adams school in the Fourth school division, bringing 1928 estimates for this division, including the accumulated shortage of $236,000, up to $434,000.

In the Fifth school division, appropriations totaling $497,000 were asked for the construction of a 16-room elementary school in Langdon, and completion of the Langley Junior high school and for purchase of land sites of the Langdon school and an unnamed building, to be erected at Rhode Island avenue and Twelfth street northeast.

Wheatley Improvements.

Completion of a gymnasium and assembly hall at the Wheatley school and the purchase of land sites for the Benning playgrounds and playgrounds at the Carberry and Peabody schools was estimated at $161,000.

A 4-room addition to the Bryan school, purchase of land sites for the Cranch school and Ketcham Van Buren playground and the addition of an accumulated shortage of $110,000 in the Seventh division was estimated at $215,000.

Land sites for the Fairbrother school and the Tener playgrounds, together with an accumulated shortage of $350,000, was estimated at $665,350 as necessary appropriations for the Eighth division.

Appropriations of $364,950 was asked for the purchase of land sites in the Tenth division for the Garrison school, Wormley, Stevens and Montgomery playgrounds and the construction of an eight-room building at the Wilson school.

An obligated estimate of $275,000 for completion of the Garnett-Patterson Junior High school and the construction of an eight-room elementary school to be named the Crumwell school will necessitate the appropriation of $348,300 for the Eleventh school division.

The board of education finance committee yesterday voted a new

TARIFF, EDUCATION AND PLUNDER HELD AS FARM TROUBLES

Senate Debate Leads to Bitter Attack on Policies of Administration.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER ASKS FOR COALITION

Mellon Assailed for Sending Letter Against Relief Plan to Congress.

(By the Associated Press.) Senate debate on the McNary farm bill developed yesterday into a diagnosis of the farmers' troubles which were laid to the tariff, "so-called education" and a governmental plundering system.

Discussion centered mostly on the tariff as the chief difficulty, and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, recommended a coalition of the Democrats and the wheat-growing West against the tariff.

"I am going to suggest to the Democrats in good faith," he said, "to join hands with the wheat farmers of the Northwest to tear down this tariff wall and stop this plundering system that has disgusted the farmers of the nation."

Pointing a finger at Western Republicans, Senator Robinson declared: "You and I can agree upon a tariff that could save the farmers and other consumers of this country billions of dollars annually that now go to the trusts and monopolies, such as the Aluminum Company of America. If you want to form a coalition, stop threatening, and let us act."

He charged supporters of the McNary bill with "trying to fool the farmers and attempting to lead them into the camp of the plunderers and leaving them there."

Mellon Assailed. Secretary Mellon was assailed particularly by the Democratic leader for his opposition to the McNary bill. The Secretary's letter to house members on the measure was an "amazing illustration of the selfishness of those who believe in laws for the class to which they belong and oppose another because it does not include them."

"He undoubtedly speaks for the administration," Senator Robinson continued. "He is recognized as the most powerful factor in the councils of the Republican party, but he is not content to submit his advice to cabinet meetings, but has voluntarily given an expression of his views to Congress. The time has come when you ought to repudiate Secretary Mellon and all he stands for in economic and political life."

Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, said he had had serious doubts about the economic phase of the bill, but thought the Mellon letter made the best argument for its soundness he had heard, that is, if the protective tariff is sound.

Logan was arrested by police of the Tenth precinct and charged with reckless driving. He was released under $1,000 bond.

E. W. LIBBEY ELECTED BY VEILED PROPHETS

Kallipolis Grotto Member Is Chosen to Be Master of Ceremonies.

St. Louis, June 16 (By A. P.).—Judge Frederick P. Walthers, of Cleveland, Ohio, today was elected grand monarch of the supreme council, Mystic Order Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm, in annual session here.

George A. Treadwell, of New Orleans, retiring president, in a report to the convention, advised against the organization becoming "linked up in any way with the Ku Klux Klan." Describing the grotto as a social organization to which any Blue lodge Mason is eligible, he said:

"I think it far better that the M. O. V. P. E. R. should avoid anything which will lend color to the conclusion that there is any connection between Masonry and the Ku Klux Klan."

Other officers elected include Edward W. Libbey, Kallipolis grotto, Washington, D. C., master of ceremonies.

Edward W. Libbey, of Kallipolis grotto, is chief clerk and superintendent of the Department of Commerce and is the second Washington man to be given a place in the grand grotto line, following Edward S. Schmid, who several years ago passed through all chairs, filling the office of grand monarch of the order in 1917.

Mr. Libbey is a member of St. John's lodge, No. 7, Mount Hope chapter, No. 7, P. E. M., Columbian commandery, Knights Templar, Almas temple, Mystic shrine, Masonic Veterans' association, past president of the Grand Lodge of Master Masons, past monarch and present secretary of Kallipolis grotto, and past president of the Kallipolis grotto.

With his election to the grand body of the Veiled Prophets, Washington is represented in the high offices of both that organization and the Mystic Shrine, Leonard P. Steuart, past potentate of Almas temple, having recently been elected to the imperial council of the latter organization.

TARIFF, EDUCATION AND PLUNDER HELD AS FARM TROUBLES

Senate Debate Leads to Bitter Attack on Policies of Administration.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER ASKS FOR COALITION

Mellon Assailed for Sending Letter Against Relief Plan to Congress.

(By the Associated Press.) Senate debate on the McNary farm bill developed yesterday into a diagnosis of the farmers' troubles which were laid to the tariff, "so-called education" and a governmental plundering system.

Discussion centered mostly on the tariff as the chief difficulty, and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, recommended a coalition of the Democrats and the wheat-growing West against the tariff.

"I am going to suggest to the Democrats in good faith," he said, "to join hands with the wheat farmers of the Northwest to tear down this tariff wall and stop this plundering system that has disgusted the farmers of the nation."

Pointing a finger at Western Republicans, Senator Robinson declared: "You and I can agree upon a tariff that could save the farmers and other consumers of this country billions of dollars annually that now go to the trusts and monopolies, such as the Aluminum Company of America. If you want to form a coalition, stop threatening, and let us act."

He charged supporters of the McNary bill with "trying to fool the farmers and attempting to lead them into the camp of the plunderers and leaving them there."

Mellon Assailed. Secretary Mellon was assailed particularly by the Democratic leader for his opposition to the McNary bill. The Secretary's letter to house members on the measure was an "amazing illustration of the selfishness of those who believe in laws for the class to which they belong and oppose another because it does not include them."

"He undoubtedly speaks for the administration," Senator Robinson continued. Premier Hopes to Base His Paris, June 16 (By A. P.).—Aristide Briand late today agreed to set himself to the task of forming a non-partisan cabinet in an effort to solve the pressing financial and political problems now facing France.

Only yesterday, M. Briand, long a veteran breaker and maker of cabinets, resigned his ninth ministry shortly after his finance minister, Raoul Peret, had given up his portfolio because of a lack of support for his projects to save the franc.

M. Briand accepted the mission to form his tenth ministry after President Doumergue had conferred with the leaders of all the groups in the chamber of deputies and the senate. Most of these leaders recommended that a national union cabinet be formed under the leadership of the "man of Locarno."

The first snag which M. Briand struck was the refusal of former Premier Herriot to enter a coalition cabinet. The president of the

Icebergs Held to Blame For Cold New York Day

New York, June 16 (By A. P.).—Winds chilled by icebergs were blamed today for a 30-degree drop in temperature since yesterday, which caused the weather bureau here to chalk up the coldest June 16 in ten years.

The temperature dropped from yesterday's maximum of 81 degrees, the hottest day of the season, to 54 today. Warmer weather for tomorrow was predicted.

Meteorologists at the weather bureau said the sudden cold had been caused by an overnight shift in winds from southerly to northeasterly coming to New York from the Hudson Bay country. Icebergs recently have been reported in the northern transatlantic lanes.

The cold caused postponement of scheduled baseball games both at the Polo grounds and Ebbets field. This was said to be one of the latest dates on record here on which ball games have had to be postponed for cold.

chamber, who also is president of the radical party, had talked with the former members of his cabinet who were understood to have advised against the entrance of radicals into any cabinet except one recruited from a radical and socialist coalition.

Despite this obstacle, M. Briand decided that he could not refuse to do whatever he could to form a non-partisan government. He will ask former President Poincare to take the finance portfolio, and will call on the leaders of all the principal groups in the senate, except the socialists and communists, to take part in a determined effort finally to lift France out of the slough of financial disorder.

Forming New Majority.

The task which M. Briand set for himself amounts to the formation of a new majority in parliament, built up by support from the moderates and conservatives. The socialists are expected to join the cabinet, and could not take part in it anyway, under a recent decision taken at their party conference. The radicals are split. About half of the group, which numbers 132, are uncompromisingly opposed to any collaboration with groups other than the socialists and republican socialists.

By bringing M. Poincare and other leaders of the moderate groups into the cabinet, M. Briand hopes to fortify his recent majorities, most of which were furnished by the moderates and conservatives. In this way he hopes to obtain a solid parliamentary backing for the stringent measures now in view to stabilize the franc.

The first cabinet slate, which was circulated immediately after M. Briand had accepted the mandate from President Doumergue to form a new cabinet, contained the names of several of the most important figures in French politics. Louis Marin, leader of the old bloc national, is down for the justice portfolio; to succeed Pierre Laval, M. Flaudin to succeed Laurent-Eynac in the ministry of aviation and M. Darlac to succeed Daniel-Vincent in the ministry of commerce.

Those ministers who are expected to retain their portfolios are M. Painleve, war; M. Leygues, navy; and M. Durand, interior. M. Briand, of course, will retain the portfolio for foreign affairs.

SPECIAL RED TRAIN BEARS 9 CARDINALS ON WESTWARD TRIP

Prelates on Way to Eucharistic Congress Given Hearty Send-Off.

GALA PREPARATIONS
MADE FOR RECEPTION

German and Austrian Party
Arrives in New York on Chartered Ship.

New York, June 16 (By A. P.).—New York today waved farewell to nine red-batted cardinals who left here to attend the Eucharistic congress at Chicago, and greeted more than 200 foreign delegates arriving from abroad.

The cardinals, who departed on a special train of seven red Pullman cars, fitted with every luxury, and in charge of a crew of Catholics, were given a farewell that rivaled the ovation given them yesterday at city hall.

The concourse of Grand Central terminal was thronged with thousands who struggled with police for the privilege of kissing the rings of the cardinals, especially that of Cardinal Bonzano, the papal legate.

The cardinal party numbered 74. Only four were civilians. There were four archbishops, seven bishops and many monsignori and lesser clergy.

Shortly after the cardinals left, the permanent committee of the Eucharistic congress departed in a special train from the Pennsylvania terminal via the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The committee, numbering sixteen, was headed by the Rt. Rev. L. Heylen, bishop of Namur, Belgium.

Most of the cardinals left in a body from the Vanderbilt hotel. So dense was the crowd outside the hotel that it was necessary to divert traffic to allow the cars bearing the party to the station through.

Faulhaber Drops Incognito.

Cardinal Faulhaber, archbishop of Munich, went to the station alone from the home of Father Kunig in Brooklyn, where he had maintained the incognito he established at the start of his journey. Today, however, he abandoned his role of a German professor and appeared in his cardinal's robes.

After visiting the engineer and fireman of the train he extended his hand, which carried the cardinal's ring outside of red gloves, to the crowd which hemmed him in and allowed over a score to kiss it.

The cardinals in the party were: Cardinal Bonzano, papal legate; Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York; Cardinal O'Donnell, archbishop of Armagh and primate of Ireland; Cardinal Reig y Casanova, archbishop of Toledo; Cardinal Charost, archbishop of Rennes; Cardinal Dubois, archbishop of Paris; Cardinal Piffi, archbishop of Vienna; Cardinal Cernoch, archbishop of Stringona; and Cardinal Faulhaber, archbishop of Munich.

Three Yugoslav bishops arriving on the Olympic were given an escort of detectives from the "bomb" squad as they came ashore. No official statement of the reason for this extra protection was given, but police said there was bitterness between the clerical party and the left wing of the Yugoslav parliament, and that it had been decided to give a police escort as a precaution.

Freethinkers Protest.

The Freethinkers' society of New York during the day made public telegrams sent Gov. Smith and Mayor Walker, protesting the official State and city welcome given the cardinals at the city hall.

The North German Lloyd liner Luetzow arrived here today with 142 delegates to the eucharistic congress from Germany and Austria. The Luetzow is the only vessel which has been chartered for the exclusive use of eucharistic delegates and the papal colors flew from her masthead.

The delegation included three bishops, one abbot, 72 priests and the remainder laymen. The bishops were Dr. William Berning, bishop of Osnabrueck on the Rhine; Dr. Adam Heffer, prince bishop of

Awakes to Find Body Tattooed, Head to Feet

Special to The Washington Post.
Detroit, Mich., June 16.—Alfred Blackman, 37, left for the University of Michigan hospital at Ann Arbor today to undergo a series of operations for the removal of the tattooing which covers his face, hands and body. His petition for treatment without charge was granted today by Probate Judge Edgar O. Durfee.

"I was in Chicago," Blackman said, "and a fellow doped me. When I came to I found myself in a box car here, tattooed from head to foot."

He exhibited his hands which were tattooed to resemble alligator hide. His cheeks, forehead and chin were also covered with tattoo marks, even his eyelids being adorned.

"It isn't the odd appearance I mind so much," he said, "although that is bad enough. The stuff has been poisoning me, ruining my health."

Chicago Ready for Guests.

Chicago, June 16 (By A. P.).—Prepared for the duties of host to the greatest ecclesiastical gathering in the history of the United States, Chicago will give her first account of her months of preparation for the twenty-eighth international Eucharistic congress tomorrow in her welcome to his eminence John Cardinal Bonzano, personal representative of Pope Pius XI.

The special red train bearing the papal legate and 79 cardinals, bishops and priests will be met by an official religious and civic delegation headed by Cardinal Mundelein, sponsor of the congress, and Mayor William E. Weaver.

Police arrangements have been made for a throng of 25,000 in the vicinity of the Illinois Central station on the lake front. Church bells throughout the city will ring for several minutes after 10 a. m. the scheduled hour of arrival.

From the station Cardinal Bonzano will ride with Cardinal Mundelein in a great procession to the Cathedral of the Holy Name, three miles north, escorted by several thousand uniformed members of Catholic societies, Boy Scouts, bands, and a picked detail of police.

At the cathedral, after the singing of a Te Deum, the distinguished prelates will be formally welcomed by Cardinal Mundelein and officers of the Congress. Cardinal Bonzano then will be escorted to the residence of Cardinal Mundelein, where he will make his headquarters.

Cardinal Mundelein, in what he describes as his first interview with newspapermen since his elevation to the cardinalate, today expressed gratitude to the non-Catholic population of Chicago for their cooperation in the reception of the congress.

"Never before in history has an event so unified and harmonized the people of this great city," he said. "That, to me, is one of the greatest services of the congress, and one of the most noteworthy indications of the trend of the times."

The city council today passed a resolution to close the city hall next Monday at noon, and all day Thursday, June 24, the last day of the congress.

Episcopal Diocese Votes Good Wishes to Catholics

Chicago, June 16 (By A. P.).—The eighty-ninth convention of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago today adopted a resolution extending to officers of the great Catholic meeting.

CHILDREN IN THE STREETS.

Another child playing in the street has been killed by an automobile. In New York this week two children were run down and killed by a woman motorist who "stepped on the gas." Nearly every city records similar fatalities. Recent statistics show that of the 22,500 deaths in the United States caused by automobile accidents in 1925 the percentage of children killed was approximately 3 1/2 less than in 1924, although the total number, 6,309, was more than 200 greater than in the previous year. This decrease, the underwriters association says, seems to indicate that safety education in the schools is having an effect. The number of adults killed increased 15 per cent.

It is altogether probable that the majority of fatalities among children due to automobiles are the result of unavoidable accidents. In many instances the deaths have been caused by the children themselves, who, absorbed in their play, little realize the danger that lurks in the streets. They dart back and forth, in and out among the machines, and inevitably some must be run down. Children in the streets are a constant source of apprehensions to drivers of motor cars, for the simple reason that the operators of machines are unable to tell what the children will do.

Parents have incurred a new obligation since the motor car took possession of the streets. They are bound under the most dire penalty to safeguard their children. Whatever the household duties may be, and however restricted the area in which a child may safely play, no mother should any longer tell her child to "run out and play." It is equivalent to a death sentence.

Yet children must play, and many of them have no place for play except the streets. The establishment of more playgrounds is a necessary consequence of the monopolization of the streets by automobiles. Playgrounds must be placed in every part of the city if the lives of children are to be spared.

After all, a critic is just a man who doesn't agree with the public.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Throughout the nation the Fourth of July will be joyfully celebrated by the American people. Because the Fourth falls on Sunday the physical manifestations of patriotism will occur on Monday, the 5th. But that does not matter. It should hold for Americans this year a greater significance than ever before, for it will be the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Washington, the seat of government, should not be less patriotic than other cities. The day has gone when the celebration of the Fourth of July records many casualties to the youth of the country by reason of indulgence in explosives. All over the country the authorities have endeavored, and in most instances succeeded, in making the day "safe and sane." This does not mean, however, that there is less of fervor or patriotism than there was in other years. In most cities there will be gorgeous displays of fireworks. Here in the National Capital it is proposed to have an appropriate celebration, including a display of fireworks in the Monument grounds. A fund of $3,500 is needed. The committee in charge has already received contributions amounting to $2,000, but additional subscriptions are necessary if the fireworks feature is to be included. Surely the patriotic citizens of Washington will not fail to contribute to this end. Subscriptions may be sent to Isaac Gans, treasurer of the citizens' committee in charge of the celebration.

The shortage of snake stories indicates that most of the good liars are now engaged as press agents.

IS IT A PROPAGANDA FRANCAISE?

There should be a lodge, or chapter, of the Legion of Honor established with headquarters in New York or Chicago wherein could be gathered all the fortunate Americans who have been distinguished among their fellows through the bestowal upon them of the ribbon and the cross of that most prized of French decorations.

Recently a large party of American hotel men returned from a tour of Europe. They spent much time in France and they, or some of them, bring back ocular evidence of the manner in which they won the hearts of the French people. There is E. M. Statler, of Buffalo, Detroit, New York and several other cities, for instance. Mr. Statler is one of the fortunate tourists who from this time forward may appear in public with the ribbon around his neck which indicates that the people of France, "recognizing his work in behalf of peace and better international relationships," have conferred the great distinction upon him.

Nor is Mr. Statler the only one of the party to be thus distinguished from his fellow citizens—most of those who accompanied him are understood to have been similarly honored. The reason for the selections by the French of these Americans out of all the other millions can be explained by one of two causes. The fact that hotel men use a great deal of French in disguising the real character of vintages which they serve their guests may be the reason, or—which is far more likely—it is that the people of France recognize the art of cookery as the most delicate and most superb of all the achievements of man.

If only Jean Marie Perreard could have lived to accompany that party! Heias!

Anyway, a dressed-up wife is better evidence of prosperity than a horseshoe of diamonds in a necktie pin.

THE TACNA-ARICA DISPUTE.

The frustration of the Tacna-Arica plebiscite by Chile is a disappointment to Americans, who had hoped that friendship between Chile and Peru would be restored by a fair and free vote, held under the auspices of the American president of the plebiscite commission, Gen. Lassiter.

The revelation of conditions at Tacna and Arica, made by Gen. Lassiter, is an astounding indictment of the good faith and honor of Chile. In temperate language Gen. Lassiter has summed up the record which has made it necessary for the commission to declare that a plebiscite is impossible. A "reign of terror," "deportations," "outrages," and "official connivance" in crimes against Peruvian voters convinced the commission that a plebiscite under such conditions would be a violation of the rights of Peru and in conflict with the arbitral award.

Nothing but overwhelming evidence could have induced an American like Gen. Lassiter to utter such an arraignment. The sum and substance of his statement is that Chile has deliberately refused to comply with its duty, and has preferred to risk the stigma that attaches to such an act rather than to cooperate in the holding of a fair plebiscite. The natural inference is that Chile did not care to face the outcome of such a plebiscite.

It is said that there will be no appeal by Chile from the resolution of the commission annulling the plebiscite. In that case President Coolidge will not be called upon for further action as arbitrator. Chile, it is said, has given notice that it feels itself no longer bound to continue the negotiations undertaken under the good offices of the United States.

Thus the United States, in the person of its President, finds its friendly efforts flouted and its impartial arbitration nullified by Chile, in the face of that government's pledge to cooperate in the plebiscite and to abide by the result. But it is most gratifying to know that the course of the United States authorities throughout this exasperating experience has been patient, friendly, and impartial. It is also a satisfaction to feel that no official of the United States will ever be accused of countenancing an unfair election in Tacna and Arica. It is a thousand times better that the proceedings should fail than that Americans should lend themselves to an improper attempt to dispose of Tacna and Arica.

The outcome of the Tacna-Arica controversy remains for the future to determine. Whatever the developments may be, it is certain that Chile has lost the sympathy of Americans and will find it difficult to restore their former faith in her international engagements.

A modern penal institution seems to provide about all the criminal could ask except target practice.

THE BALANCE OF TRADE.

Foreign commodity trade of the United States in May showed the first favorable balance of this year. Exports of commodities for the month were valued at $356,000,000 and imports at $318,000,000, leaving a favorable balance of about $38,000,000. The value of exports in May, 1925, was $370,000,000, several million dollars greater than this year; nevertheless the value of imports in May, 1925, was $327,000,000, or about $8,000,000 greater than last month.

An important feature of the May report is the small imports of gold, totaling only about $2,334,000, the lowest for any month since the end of the war. Obviously European countries are trying to keep their gold for the stabilization of their paper currency. This is a good sign. Gold exports from the United States in May were about $9,342,000.

On the basis of the figures of the last eleven months, the foreign trade of the United States for the year ending June 30 will probably be about $500,000,000 less than the previous year, and the favorable balance of trade will be something like a third as great as last year. For the eleven months of this fiscal year the favorable commodity balance of trade is about $288,000,000, while for the corresponding period last year the favorable commodity balance was about $1,042,000,000.

It is not impossible that during the next fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, the balance of commodity trade may be against the United States; that is, imports of commodities may exceed exports of commodities. Should this be the case, it might have a serious effect on many competitive American industries, and will call attention to the peril of so-called "tariff reform."

Invisible items of credit, such as tourists' expenditures, ocean freights, payments of obligations on foreign debts and returning interest and dividends on American investments in foreign countries, will help balance the international books, but will not help American industries or American labor.

A repair shop is a place where you leave the sedan to have greasy hands wiped on the cushions.

"FOR GALLANTRY IN ACTION."

The inconsistency of some of the acts of Congress is again exemplified in the case of Albert Steinhilber, of New Ulm, Minn., who has just been cited for gallantry in action by the War Department. Steinhilber was a captain in the Forty-fifth U. S. Volunteer Infantry in 1900. For a particularly gallant action against the insurgent forces near Labo, Luzon, in May of that year, the department decides that he is entitled to the honor of the citation, which carries with it the right to wear a silver star on his badge or ribbon, which indicates his service in the Philippine campaign.

This officer's gallantry is thus recognized just 26 years after the act. It is perhaps fortunate for Capt. Steinhilber that he did not take part in the world war, and therein distinguish himself, for under an act of Congress the War Department would have been precluded from citing him, unless his claim for citation had been properly presented and passed upon before April, 1923. That date was the dead line for recognizing gallantry in action by any of the members of the American expeditionary forces. Congress stipulated in specific language that all such distinguished services, whether in France, Belgium, Italy or up on the shores of the White sea near Archangel, or in any other scrap in which the boys were engaged, must be duly tagged and cited by or before that particular April day, or must go unrecognized forever after.

It's a queer situation; but Congress can change the law, and 25 years hence may authorize the War Department to recognize through citation some gallant action of 1918.

Let fuller skirts become stylish if they wish. They won't look quite so full of girl.

JUGOSLAVIA PAYS.

Without waiting for Congress to ratify its debt settlement with this country, Yugoslavia has sent its first payment of $200,000, and has given notice that it will meet all payments as they fall due under the agreement. The new minister of finance, Dr. Peritch, has included in the budget the debt payments to be made to the United States, and the prosperous condition of Yugoslavia is sufficient assurance that the country is now well past its chief difficulties.

Jugoslavia presents attractive opportunities to American enterprise and capital. The country needs power development, factories, railroads and other facilities. Political troubles have largely disappeared, and there is no longer any doubt as to the stability of the government which has been set up by the free will of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes. They are on their own soil, and a fruitful one at that; they seek peace and commerce with their neighbors; they are hard-working and frugal; and therefore they are entitled to the good will and benefit which would accrue from a prompt ratification of the debt agreement.

The true radical mind is one that rejoices to see the other fellow soaked for taxes.

GUM CHEWING.

The census bureau has been hard at work for many weeks conducting a sleuthlike investigation into chewing-gum industry. It must not be assumed that the bureau has attempted the task of segregating the different types of chewers into classes, based upon the number of teeth employed in individual cases, the manner in which the mastication is conducted, or the proportion of chewers who spin long strands of chicle from a point one inch below the nose to another point, projected in a straight line, to a distance equal to the length of the arm of the chewer.

The investigation had to do only with the number of establishments engaged in the manufacture of the confection, the number of workpeople employed, cost of materials and value of product.

It is announced that there were in the United States 41 gum factories in 1925; that the average number of employees drawing wages was 2,180; that they earned, or were paid, $2,535,000; and that they produced chewing gum to the value of $47,838,000 during the year.

Ten per cent of the entire population is under the age of 5 years, and presumably do not chew. Another large percentage is engaged in sneering at the habit; but even assuming that they chew on the sly and are therefore to be counted as Americans, it is doubtful if the census figures will bear critical analysis. If the product is worth $47,000,000 at the factory it commands five times that in a slot machine, or $235,000,000 per annum, and that means $2.35 per annum for every inhabitant over 5 years of age in continental United States and Alaska, without regard to sex, creed, color or previous condition of servitude. While the fobs of discarded gum on the marble floors of the Capitol and every public building in the United States would seem to confirm the accuracy of the census bureau's figures, it must be borne in mind that the statement presupposes that all this gum has been consumed in the United States, for no one ever heard of a foreign demand. The publicity of gum-chewing is apt to cause the average observer to assume that the census bureau has been too conservative in its estimate; but we insist that the average consumption cited is either too high or that Americans under 5 years of age are included as addicts. And we stick to that.

Voting isn't always a duty. It's your duty not to vote if you're going to vote wrong.

American and British delegates to the preliminary international conference on oil pollution of ocean waters have agreed upon a tentative plan whereby the vessels of all participating nations shall be prohibited from discharging oil offshore at a distance less than 50 miles nor more than 150 miles, and that zones shall be established. The next thing is a plan for enforcement.

The Worst Story I Heard Today—By Will Rogers

The Worst Joke I heard today was told to me by A. J. Erskine, of South Bend, Ind. Now all he did was take a certain automobile Plant and make it one of the greatest industrial organizations in the world.

It's a great place, South Bend. Old Rockne and his wonderful footballers, the finest type of boys you ever saw. And Erskine and his great plant. He is a living demonstration that there should be no industrial unrest. Show 'em what you are making, give them a fair share of it, and they will stay with you for nothing if they know you are not making anything and are trying to carry on.

He is a good fellow, this Erskine, and loves a joke. Here is one he told me. His company was coming along pretty fast, and they got to where they made a car every 5 minutes, so one day a fellow called at the office and kept insisting that he see no one but Mr. Erskine.

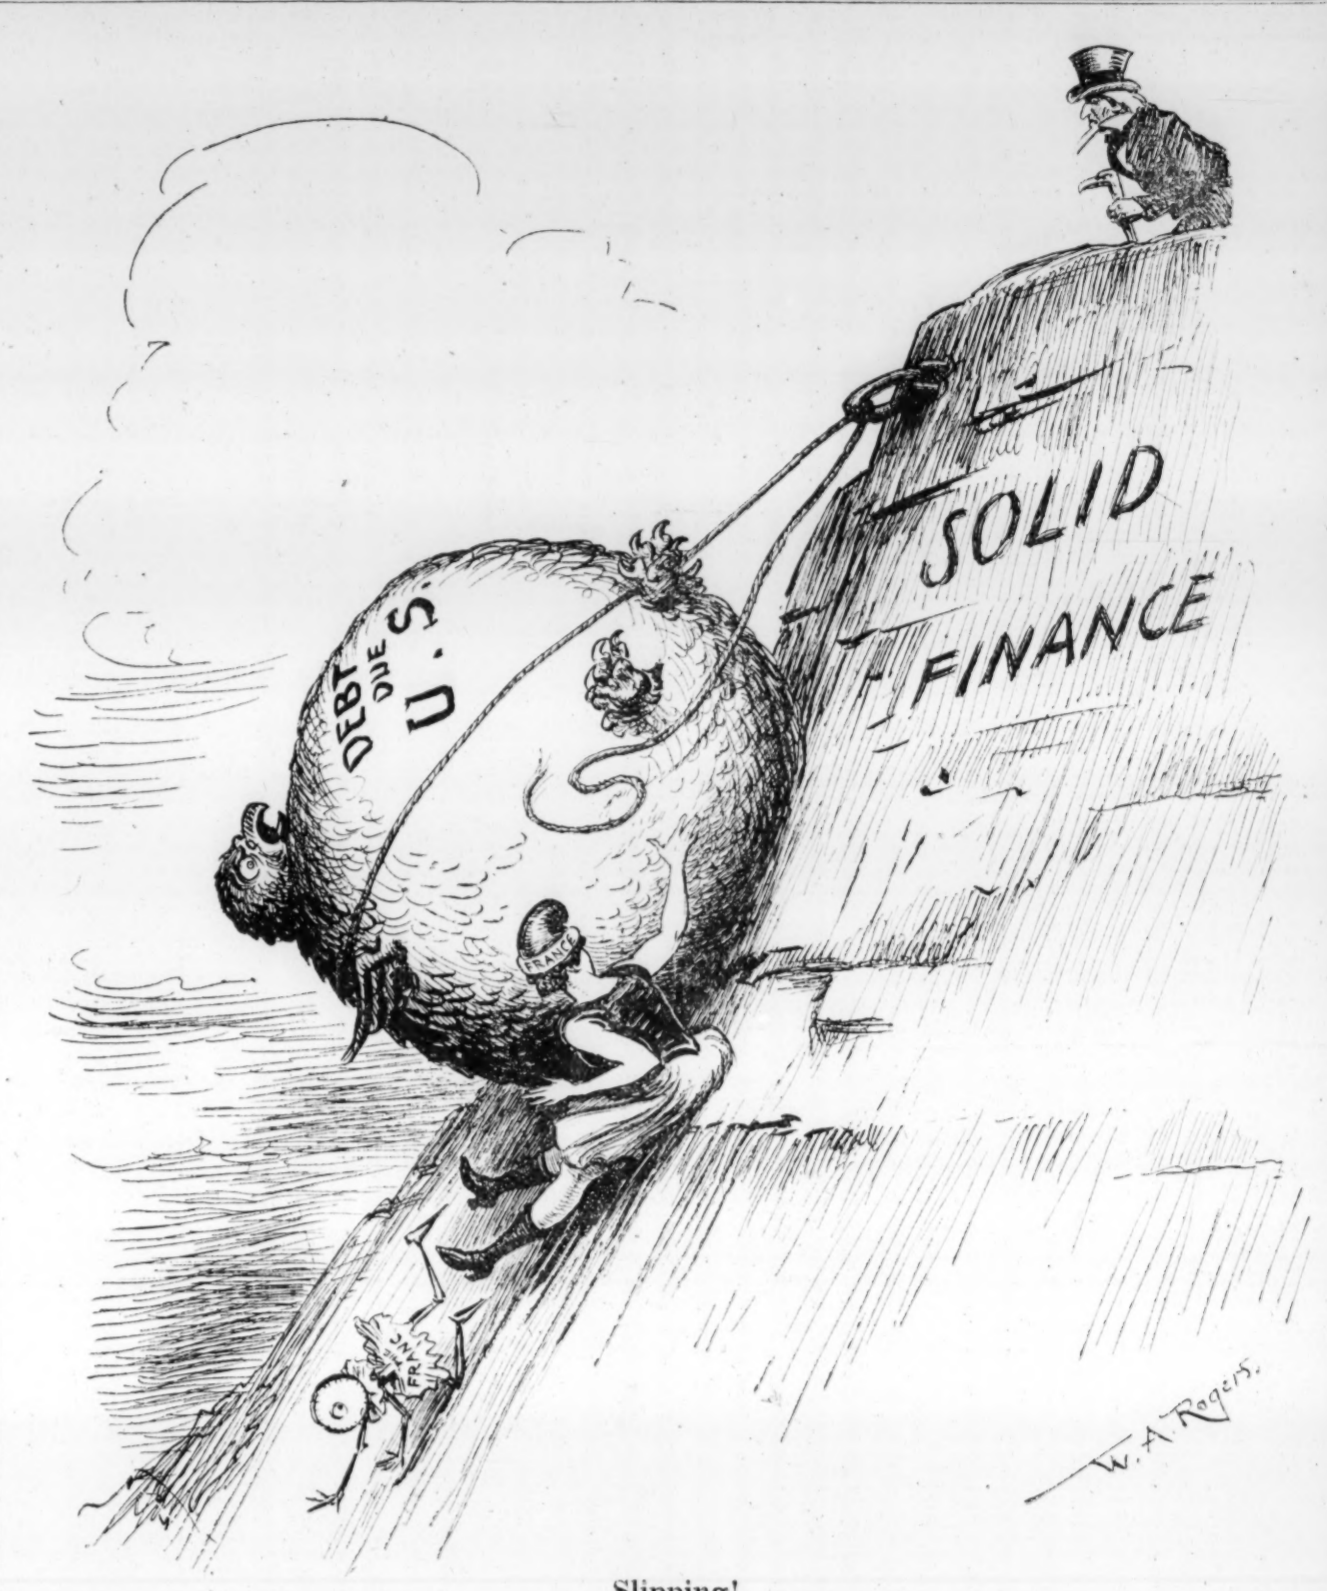

"I am a customer and no one but the boss will do me."

Well, they finally let him in to see Erskine, and he said, "You have been doing a lot of advertising that you manufactured a car in five minutes."

"Yes," said Erskine, "We did say something like that."

"Well," replied the Guy, "I am the fellow who bought it."

Louisville Courier-Journal: It has been decided that President Coolidge vacate the White House on March 4. This is not the result of the Pennsylvania primary, or the recent dry order. It has no political significance. The roof is leaking.

The Wisconsin Idea.

Philadelphia Record: The La Follette progressive Republicans of Wisconsin wrote their State platform before the recent Pennsylvania primaries, but they didn't miss it much when they declared: "United States Senate seats shall not be sold to highest bidder; national resources shall not be distributed to millionaire campaign contributors; political expenditures must be limited."

Mind Bets.

Philadelphia Inquirer: Rudolph Valentino, asked whether he is to marry Pola Negri, and reminded of his $15,000 wager that he wouldn't wed again before 1930, replied that if he wished to marry he would not let a matter of $15,000 stand in his way. Certainly not. Why should Rudolph permit $15,000 to cut him out of one of his marriages—particularly as it is a press agent's mind bet, anyway?

Shrinkage of Skirts.

New York Telegram: Both Tarkington has advanced the promise that within 50 years the skirt, as an article of woman's apparel, will have disappeared entirely.

Surely the revolt which took place in the course of the war time against hampering habiliments marked a step ahead for women. Three since the first appearance of the knee-length skirt the designers of Paris and London and New York have attempted a return to the trailing apparel and each time their efforts have been scorned and the full lengths discarded, or at least promptly curtailed, within a few weeks of their appearance. If Mr. Tarkington could have been willing to restrict his prediction to one that "the full length skirt has gone for all time," one might be able to accept his statement with entire confidence.

THE SAVING WAGE.

By JAMES J. DAVIS,
Secretary of Labor.

The recent address of Owen D. Young before the national industrial conference board in which he advocated a "cultural wage" for labor, has had many echoes, but the public should not be permitted to forget that Secretary Davis has a prior claim to attention as a consequence of his having advocated, several years before Mr. Young's address, a "saving wage." Perhaps, in the last analysis, both mean pretty much the same thing; but, if they do, the larger credit should go to the man who originated in theory this kind of wage.—Editor.

We are progressing in respect of labor. There can be no doubt about that. Only a few years ago, comparatively speaking, William McKinley won an election to the Presidency by pleading for a full dinner-pail for the workingman. The full dinner-pail would not be an effective slogan in American politics today. The American worker has learned that he is entitled to a warm dinner, as well as to a great many other things that he used to go without.

At the time when Mr. McKinley was pleading for a full dinner-pail, a great many political economists—all the orthodox ones in fact—used to believe in the "iron law" of wages, formulated by David Ricardo, which announced that wages could never in the long run rise higher than the bare means of subsistence, and the amount necessary to bring the workers' children into the world and enable them to live under the same rotten conditions that their fathers and mothers had known. But orthodoxes of all kinds are having hard sledding in our time, orthodox political economy not the least so. To say now that you are orthodox means no more than this, that you are not up to date and your intellectual poverty has become terribly conspicuous. David Ricardo was very well in his day and generation; what he wrote was true when he wrote it, but circumstances change; so that to quote Ricardo now, as an authority on the subject of wages, is in itself proof that the one who does so is an economic Rip Van Winkle.

It was the growing ambition of the worker that made the Ricardian political economy obsolete. What made him ambitious? History reveals very plainly what has made every lower social caste ambitious. In all ages there have been aristocrats who were traitors to their class, and since the arrival of the bourgeois, there have been bourgeois traitors to their class, who have raised the standard of revolt and fired the spirits of their social inferiors. Achilles Loria, the distinguished Italian political economist, has shown that, in every social revolution since history began, it was the intellectuals who gave the finishing stroke to the social class in power. It was the intellectuals who roused the ambition of the workers. It was they who told the workers to unite and to declare war on the kind of society that bowed the knee to David Ricardo.

When Ricardo formulated his iron law of wages there were no labor organizations in either England or Germany, and those who governed those countries were firmly resolved that there never should be any. But labor, under the tutelage of the intellectuals—the writers—learned to exercise the same will to power that all the classes above it had learned to exercise in the past, and, under pressure, the different parliaments repealed the laws that forbade labor to organize, and with the coming of labor organizations the iron law had fewer and fewer each year to do it reverence, until now the iron has become no more than gossamer.

Labor has now come of age. It has been well tutored during the last hundred years. The working man has learned to read; he has been taught to think. His children go through schools and colleges. Do you think you can keep them down now? Do you think that it will be possible in the future for all the profits of production to go to the employing class only? If there still be dear simpletons of that way of thinking, it is evident that they know little of the power of education.

If the Ricardian political economy, which was true enough a hundred years or so ago, were true today, it would be useless for labor to demand a saving wage. But the Ricardian economy has gone into the discard; our farsighted men of business already see how by means of mass production it will be possible to accede to the demand of labor, and already some of them—notably Henry Ford—are paying a saving wage.

Of one thing we may be quite certain of our workers: Either their right demands will be conceded, or they will take to reading Karl Marx with a vengeance. Would it not be better for all employers of labor to so run their businesses and to pay a saving wage, that Karl Marx may become obsolete?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Vest Pocket Essay on Knees.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The editor of a certain daily newspaper opines that "nothing as ugly as a knee can be very naughty." This ink-slinger, for once, may be right, but it must be admitted that while a pig's knuckle may not be naughty it is awfully nice—especially when cooked with cabbage that has reached the age of respectability in a kraut barrel. It is undoubtedly true that Dame Nature did not anticipate "rolling tops" when she decided on the style of architecture for knees. However, since the advent of this new fad in stockings, it is apparent to a casual observer that if the "fingerprints" of all knees were taken, no two pairs would be found alike. In fact, it is evident that in but few cases would the pair exhibited by any one owner prove to be mates. In many instances the use of some effective antiskneek device appears to be indicated, while in other cases the pair must be entire strangers, for they never meet. To the man who has reached the age where he begins to consider reforming, it appears that the chief function of knees is to harbor the parasites of rheumatism.

In the swine world, one will find a symmetry of knees which the human race can not boast of, yet its matrons and flappers do not employ the Scottish system of ventilation. In fact, propriety forbids that they sport 'em bare. While on this subject we must realize that there will be a scarcity of pig knuckles this fall. Not only is there a shortage of hogs, but reports from various parts of the country indicate that hog cholera is taking its annual toll. While Maryland has experienced but little of the disease this year, the time is fast approaching when swine raisers must be on the alert to protect their hogs from its ravages. If they will only remember that infected pork in garbage, table scraps, kitchen swill, &c., and the introduction of infected hogs are responsible for starting practically all primary, or new outbreaks of cholera in Maryland, the necessary precautions will be plain.

VIRGINIA DARE.

To most modern Americans "Virginia Dare" means merely a pleasant beverage which it was possible to obtain and enjoy without breaking the law of the land, says the Philadelphia Record. Perhaps they are unaware that the first child of English parents born in the New World wore that name during her short and tragic life. She was born and lived her few years with the ill-fated colony sent out by Sir Walter Raleigh in 1587. Three years after that date the entire community had disappeared from the face of the earth, and no trace was ever found of any survivor. They fell undoubtedly before the fury of the Indians. It is now proposed to erect a monument to perpetuate the memory of little Virginia Dare. It is a piece of sentiment purely, but it is wholesome and may serve a good purpose.

METAL WORKS SHOW INCREASE OVER 1925 BUSINESS FORECAST

Iron-Steel Confound Prophecy
by Running Ahead in Production.

EXPECT LOWER PRICES
IN SUMMER MONTHS

Electrical Goods Industry
Leaps Ahead of All Expectations.

By WILLIAM P. HELM, Jr.

Iron and steel works have confounded the forecasts for lighter business by running ahead of 1925 production thus far this year and by showing an unusual increase in output during June, the time selected by the forecasters for a marked slump. In fact June production of pig iron promises to eclipse the output of any month thus far in 1926.

The record shows that for the first five months of the big year of 1926, the blast furnaces of the United States, running at a high percentage of capacity, produced 18,334,518 tons of pig iron. Corresponding figures for the period in 1925 show total output of more than 16,600,000 tons. Last month's pig iron production was nearly 20 per cent above that for May, 1925, according to a computation by the Iron Age, a leading trade paper. Says that journal:

"Activity in pig iron in the middle West is on the increase, and in several months." As for steel, the same authority declares:

"For June an average production rate of not far from 75 per cent of capacity indicates a healthy industry. Independent steel companies, as a whole, are operating close to that figure now, while the United States Steel Corporation is running at 85 per cent." Earnings of the chief iron and steel producers during the current year, while somewhat spotty, so far as can be determined from the meagre information available, continue, in the main, to show a tendency to rise above the satisfactory figures of 1925. With no change in the United States Steel Corporation's dividend return, leading independents on which information is available show the following indicated earnings per share thus far in 1926:

Steel Increases.

Bethlehem Steel, $2.66 for the three months ending with March, as compared with $5.30 during the entire year 1925—virtually an increase of 100 per cent, according to indications; Crucible Steel, $4.25 during the six months ending with March (part of the time included covering operations during 1925) as compared with $5.05 for the full year 1925; Otis Steel, 99 cents during the three months ending with March as compared with $1.06 for the entire year 1925; Republic Iron & Steel, $2.94 during the three months ending with March as compared with $6.87 during the entire year 1925; Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke, nothing during the first three months of 1926 as compared with 68 cents a share during the year 1925; Youngstown Sheet & Tube, $3.60 during the first three months of 1926 as compared with $12.38 during the entire year 1925.

These generally gratifying earnings per share, coupled with increasing production, would tend to indicate much higher rates of earnings during the present year than in 1925, but this tendency has been slowed down somewhat during the past 30 days by general lowering of prices both of iron and steel. Profits during the second quarter of the month will follow the seasonal trend and probably be smaller than during the first quarter.

This situation has been brought about by heavy production, which has been somewhat in excess of demands. The same thing happened in 1925 and, to a much sharper degree, in 1924. Lower prices, therefore, may reasonably be expected during the summer, up to and including August. Buyers consequently are purchasing, as a rule, only such supplies as they require, deferring further purchases in the hope of getting better quotations.

Seasonal Lull Results.

All of which, of course, results in a seasonal lull in the industry and savings to the consuming public. But this is the end of the matter, experience has shown, for invariably the small stocks and stiffened demand of the fall has sent prices to higher levels and resulted in jacking up the output. In the iron and steel trade conditions are slightly analogous to those in the coal trade, which alternates between feasts and famines. At the moment the iron and steel industry is on a diet with indications that it will enjoy its usual full meal of profits after vacations end and the country settles down to uninterrupted work.

Much of the heavy iron and steel production of the past five months has found its way into the electrical and machinery trades which have continued at high production levels. The automobile industry, too, with heavier steel demands than customary, has helped maintain the furnaces at a more even rate of production this year than during the same period in 1925. So long as these three good customers maintain their own affairs at the present rate and so long as railroad buying does not dwindle below the usual seasonal figures the iron and steel trade has little to fear from a 1926 slump. Indications, indeed, are that the industry will eclipse the excellent year just past.

Looking, for a moment, at the electrical goods industry, one finds that orders received by the Western Electric Co. during the first three months of 1926 totaled more than $61,000,000, or about 5 1/2 per cent more than the 1925 orders during the same period. The General Electric Co. likewise showed a gratifying increase in orders between January and March of this year, as compared with the same period in 1925.

Home Efficiency Service—By Nancy Carey

$12 In Awards for Recipes

- First Prize, $5; Second Prize, $2, and 5 Third Prizes of $1 Each.
1. All contributions must be in before midnight, Thursday, June 24.
  2. On the sheet of paper on which appears the recipe submitted nothing but the name and address of the contributor may appear. Write on one side of the paper only. Any additional communication must be on a separate sheet of paper.
  3. One recipe per person only may be entered in the contest.
  4. Recipes submitted must be for Summer Salads (with dressing). No other recipes are eligible.
  5. Address all communications to Nancy Carey, Director, The Post's Home Efficiency Service, Post Building, Washington, D. C.

We again have a collection of request recipes at hand, and a number of letters that are to be answered through the column. As we are a home service department rather than just a department dealing with the affairs of the kitchen, it will be necessary from time to time to devote our column for a day to these requests that relate to the home outside of the kitchen and its needs.

We have for today a little of everything, but first of all an answer to the letter of Miss Virginia Baird. This young lady, who is 11, is very much interested in fudge making, and she has had difficulty with her fudge. To be exact, it sugars. Her note to The Housekeeper was cunning. Her mother makes use of the recipe printed in The Post, and the daughter of the house has observed that the results are pleasing to her father, who is, she admits, a little fussy. Therefore, Virginia wishes to bring her difficulty to The Housekeeper. I don't know what you do to your fudge, dear, but we can easily find out. If you will come to me at 2 on Friday, we will make fudge, and you shall have it to take home with you in a little box. And then you can tell the young ladies who are to come to your party on Saturday just how it is done, and why. Of course, I was glad to hear the figures being about $86,500,000 for 1926 and $8,840,000 in 1925.

The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. also did more business during that quarter than for the corresponding period in 1925. Billings by that company were at the average rate of $15,000,000 per month for the first three months of this year, nearly 10 per cent heavier than during the same period in 1925.

Electrical Goods Record.

On its own account, the electrical goods industry is rolling up a new high record in sales this year, largely due to improvement in its products and the widespread use of advertising. Electric refrigerators, for instance, have fairly leaped into popular demand. Last year there were sold throughout the United States about 52,000 such appliances. Thus far this year sales are estimated at nearly three times the volume for the entire year 1925, and before the close of this year it is expected that no fewer than 300,000 electric refrigerators will have been marketed.

The electric washing machine, older brother to the refrigerator, likewise is increasing its popularity, nearly 200,000 having been sold during the first three months of 1926, as compared with about 160,000 during the same period in 1925.

All told, it is likely that sales of electrical equipment this year will exceed those of last year by from 5 to 10 per cent. And last year was the biggest and best the industry has ever known.

It is not necessary to send envelopes with your recipes, for The Post is delighted to mail the check to the winners of our contest.

Will you call me on the telephone, Mrs. A. D. Clark. I would like to see you, or at least talk with you for a few moments if it is convenient for you to come to the studio.

I am sorry but we do not always receive all of the letters that are mailed to us, Mrs. Fry. Letters, even in ones personal correspondence as you probably know from experience, are sometimes lost, and as we have a great many letters directed to us, it is not unusual, although it is unfortunate, that some of them go astray. If you have written the Housekeeper, and you do not receive an answer in a reasonable length of time, will you not write again, for every communication that comes to this department receives an answer, either through the column or in the self-addressed envelope that is inclosed for a personal reply. If you do not take care in addressing the letter that is given into the hands of the Postoffice Department their great effort will avail nothing. We are sorry when, because of such a casualty we are unable to be of service, but we can hardly avoid it, much as we should like to do so.

We have your letter Miss Austin, and if you are able to do so I should like you to come to the studio that we may talk over the matter of which you wrote me. In that way I think we may be of more assistance to you. If you will call me, or if sufficient time remains, write me a note, we can arrange a time that is convenient to you.

Letters come to us already in great numbers bringing entries for our summer salad contest, but may I ask the friends of the column who are able to send their recipes early to do so and thereby help us avoid the last minute rush that has in our previous contests very nearly swamped the department.

column today for more than a menu that consists of recipes already given, but as it is Thursday and we have not had a fish dish for a long time, may I suggest a shrimp salad for tomorrow.

A reader has just asked that we give a recipe for uncooked chocolate icing. We shall tack it onto the end of the column. It may be used with nearly any cake, but is, of course, at its best on a rich white cake.

MENU
Jellied Consomme
Crisped Crackers
Shrimp Salad
Escalloped Potatoes
Hot Biscuit
Oranges with Cocoanut
Chocolate Cake

Our oranges with cocoanut were, if you remember, thinly sliced and mixed with moist shredded cocoanut. This mixture was then placed in the ice box to chill and served in individual glasses. It is an easy dessert, especially with a substantial supper as we have planned for tomorrow or tonight as the case may be, and may be served either with or without the cake.

Uncooked Icing.

To each cup of powdered sugar required add one tablespoonful of melted butter, one cake of unsweet-ened chocolate, and enough sweet cream to hold the sugar together in a paste that will spread but not run. The sugar should first be sifted, the cream added, and lastly the butter. When these are well blended the chocolate may be added and if one square to a cup of sugar makes the frosting darker than is desirable, less may be used.

CONSCRIPTION CUT LOOMS AS POSSIBLE AT ARMS SESSION

France Informs Experts of Her View That Issue Is Political One.

LIMIT UPON RESERVES REACTS ON TRAINING

Paris Memorandum Insists Full Commission or Parley Should Act.

Geneva, June 16 (By A. P.).—The problem of conscription and the possibility of France and other nations with big armies contributing to the cause of disarmament by restricting conscription loomed up as a big factor at the disarmament meeting today. France, which submitted a memorandum to the conference of experts, insisted that the question involved is essentially political, and therefore must be handled by the full commission or an eventual conference, but did not declare herself opposed to its consideration.

Interest has been created by the fact that France at least deems the limitation of trained reserves as a theoretical possibility. France declared that the limitation of trained reserves may affect their number and quality and the rapidity with which they can be employed, but pointed out that limitation means, in the case of conscription, that a country is prohibited from training all its able-bodied men.

This, said the French memorandum, raises the question of either abolishing compulsory military service altogether or of calling into service a restricted number of men liable to conscription.

The problem has created particular interest because of the German demand that trained reserves be limited, even if not deemed peacetime armaments. Germany, whose army is restricted by the Versailles treaty, wants her neighbors' forces brought down to a level with hers. Germany attaches importance to the limitation of trained reserves because it is realized this would involve a reduction in the armies of her neighbors.

Annulment Sought By Mrs. John Hall

New York, June 16 (By A. P.).—Mrs. Marion Gill Fillette Hall filed suit today for annulment of her marriage to John Hall, charging that the defendant was already married to Mrs. Mary Field Stone Hall when he married the plaintiff in 1922. Mr. Hall is a brother of William C. Hall, of Chicago, and of Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, of Washington, D. C., wife of the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

In her complaint Mrs. Hall alleged that Hall disappeared about a month after their marriage. She was given permission for the complaint to be served by publication.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon June 16 and adjourned at 3 o'clock p. m. until today at 12 o'clock.

Refused, 40 to 41, to reconsider vote by which Pittman bill directing Treasury Department to purchase 14,500,000 ounces of silver for coinage, was passed.

Senator Gillett (Republican), of Massachusetts, gave reasons for opposing McNary farm relief bill. Democratic Leader Robinson, of Arkansas, appealed to Western farm bloc to try out plan it believed economically strong.

Declaring high freight rates were responsible for trouble of farmer, Senator Blease (Democrat), of South Carolina, urged his amendment to fix freight rates in proportion to price paid farmers for products.

Adopted resolution declaring Thomas D. Schall (Republican), of Minnesota, duly elected for term beginning March 4, 1925. Senator Schall startled Senate by vitriolic speech attacking those who had contested his seat.

House leaders notified Senate managers there will be no adjournment until rivers and harbors bill is passed.

Senator Fess (Republican), of Ohio, introduced a bill to create a division of marketing in Department of Agriculture and a farm marketing commission.

Led by Representative Burton, of Ohio, Great Lakes members of the House and officials of chambers of commerce before committee committee protested against diversion of water from lakes by Chicago.

Continuing investigation special committee bared inside details of workings of rival political organizations in eastern and western Pennsylvania, with Harry A. Mackey, Philadelphia; Joseph N. Mackrell, Pittsburgh, and Mayor Charles A. Kline of that city as witnesses.

HOUSE

Met at noon June 16 and adjourned at 4:50 p. m. until today at 12 o'clock.

Passed a bill to permit exploration for oil and gas on 22,500,000 acres of unallotted Indian lands.

Secretary Mellon was characterized by Mr. Howard (Democrat), of Nebraska, as "America's Mussolini," and introduced resolution "to avoid useless action" by submitting all pending legislation to Secretary of Treasury.

Under terms of bill by Mr. McLeod (Republican), of Michigan, the House after March 3, 1931, would consist of 401 members instead of 435 as at present.

Action on coal legislation postponed by commerce committee until December.

ing best wishes for the success of their endeavors. Bishop Charles P. Anderson of the Episcopal Church, in addressing the convention, said that "our churchmen should be interested in this great congress of the Catholic Church."

"The Eucharist which this congress will honor," he said, "is the Eucharist which our communion observes."

Mexico City Paper Lauds Tolerance of Americans

Mexico City, June 16 (By A. P.).—The Chicago Eucharistic congress demonstrates the world leadership of the United States in the spirit of tolerance, Excelsior editorially declares today.

"In the past we have frequently had occasion to criticize the policies of the United States, especially concerning Mexico," the newspaper says, "but we desire on this occasion to express our unbounded praise and admiration for that virtue which the United States possesses more than any other country in the world—tolerance."

"The United States is the only nation powerful enough and tolerant enough to make possible this greatest Catholic gathering in the world's history. Cardinal Bonzano received in the United States honors surpassing those which New York gave Foch, Clemenceau, the Prince of Wales or any of its most notable visitors. All this in a country the majority of whose population is non-Catholic."

"The prestige of the United States and its people is incontestable, but greater than their riches, military power and population is their love of tolerance."

LATE JERSEY RETURNS STRESS DRY'S VICTORY

Woman Modificationist, for State Senate, However, Wins Arid County.

NO TEST, ASSERTS EDGE

Newark, N. J., June 16 (By A. P.).—Belated returns tonight from yesterday's primary only emphasized the two outstanding features of the poll: The victory of the dry candidate in the Sixth congressional district fight, and the lack of interest as indicated by the comparatively small total vote cast.

Representative Randolph Perkins, dry Republican, swept aside by a vote of 25,305 to 21,919. Spokesmen for the wets, led by United States Senator Edge, insisted this result only showed that the question, because of confusion with local issues, could not be settled by a primary or an election.

In the First district, composed of South Jersey counties, Charles A. Wolverton, supported by Senator Edge and the Republican organization, defeated Representative Francis F. Patterson, Jr., by a majority of 5,995. Two years ago Patterson, with Edge support, defeated Wolverton by 300 votes. Both are drys and the Democrats still run as their nominee in the November election Edward J. Kelleher, described as a "wringing wet."

In one of the two Democratic congressional contests, Fred W. Dove swamped his opponent, Samuel H. Christie, in the third district with a vote of 6,550 to 2,514.

E. W. Townsend defeated Eugene O'Mara in the Tenth district by a majority of 350.

Both Dove and Townsend were organization candidates.

Honors were even in the two wet and dry fights for nomination to the State senate. Mrs. Adeline Lawrence, Democrat, and advocate of prohibition referendum, carried Ocean, a dry county. She defeated James R. Hendrickson, avowed dry, by a 3-1 vote.

Senator Arthur N. Pierson, Republican dry, was renominated in Union county by a majority of 3,500 over Assemblyman Herbert J. Pascoe, who led attempts to have the Republicans make a stand for modification or a State referendum on the Volstead act.

The drys were victorious in a fourth contest—Charles C. Read, dry Republican assembly incumbent in Cape May county, defeating S. A. Laing, a declared wet.

DAVIS SEES MILITARY TRAINING ESSENTIAL

War Showed Need for Men Who Could Lead, He Tells Graduates.

Chester, Pa., June 16 (By A. P.).—The welfare of a nation depends upon military training, Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War, declared today at the commencement exercises of Pennsylvania Military college. The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred on the Secretary.

The honorary degree of master of aeronautical science was conferred upon Commander John A. Rogers, hero of the flight of the seaplane PN-9 of the San Francisco-Honolulu expedition last year.

"We are opposed to great standing armies," Mr. Davis said. "We believe the nation should be defended by them, with the regular army as teachers."

"During these times we hear a great deal of discussion about military training. Many do not, some will not, understand the difference between militarism and military training. There is little or no connection. One of the great lessons we learned during the great war was the need of trained leaders. Our soldiers were wonderfully brave, but we needed more educated officers."

MANY STOCKS RECORD

Steel and Motors Continue Lead Upward; Oils Are Held Under Attention.

RAILS REMAIN SLUGGISH

Special to The Washington Post.
New York, June 16.—Under spur of cheaper money, the continued in today's stock transactions on the New York Stock exchange. Reports of further improvement in the steel trade helped, and with leadership of market of the highest caliber nessed in months speculation felt no hesitancy in going ahead with their plans. Consequently the trading had greater buoy than in any previous session, as the bull movement got its starts and net gains ranging 10 points or so were freely entered through the list at the end of a year 100-and-share rally.

Call funds were cheaper than some time, standing call loans newing at 3½ per cent, and rate being reduced late in the day from 4 to 3½. Some $4,000,000 of call money was being for lack of borrowers.

On a tremendous turnover, I Steel common, which, with General Electric, and other such big steady stocks, led the advance, ship, soared 3¼ points to new levels for the year in 1937. It stood only a fraction under peak levels for all time real last year, retarding all but a fraction of its advance, and easily the outstanding feature of the day. The heavy demand for stock began in the early after-noon with publication of the weekly report showing a tendency toward higher prices for steel products. The turnover in Steel common alone was in excess of 170 shares.

Although the market was called upon to absorb heat further, it took, it did so in the same impressive manner as characterized Tuesday. It appeared that rising more than moderate reaction would have been caused by circumstances, particularly as business appears to have been stabilized on the upturn once more.

A distinctive feature of the market here has been the strong demand for industrial type stocks, so-called. In the forenoon U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, with advance of 1½ points, and ending but a point under the top, showed collapse of price in March had the trading commenced such a variety of usually ill issues as today.

Independent steels moved upward with the major leader, Bethlehem, Republic Gulf States Steel for gains of one point or two, and Sloss-Sheffield for a four-point advance. Significant decline in the afternoon movement in the steel group automobile shares, which had churning around without gain anywhere, experienced a revival in sympathy with the rise in price weather of that group, bringing it to a new maximum price for year in heavy trading. 2½ Trucks was a strong spot, although back to profit taking, and failed to close unchanged. The interest in Hudson Motor was easy because the issue will sell dividend 20 per cent in stock tomorrow.

Shares of associated industry were strong also. DuPont gave five points.

The oil shares continued to command much attention. One of the seeds of the buying in the group is the belief that Washington not block plans to form commissions intended to stabilize production and reduce operating costs, provided healthy competition maintained. Several combinations already have stood the government test with the result that others are likely to materialize.

Railroad equipment shares continued on the uptrend, with roads to depend nearly million dollars new equipment to take care of expanding traffic. American B. & Shoe, American Locomotive Co., American Car & Foundry were among the strongest. General Electric closed 7½ net higher.

American Smelting & Refining and other metal shares were likewise strong. The rise in price of nonferrous metals. Lead advanced for the fourth time comparatively few days.

Railroad shares remained in backward motion, with a somewhat very light and price change unimportant in most cases, though Atlantic Coast Line continued on its upward way with further gain of 2¾.

In Spanish paper, down to 14.26 cents featured foreign exchange. French and Belgian franc rallied 9 points. Sterling steady.

WAN, FREE, ORDERS FIRST STEAK TASTED IN 7 YEARS

There were some spectators who were forced to look on through the windows. Perhaps there were some who recalled that it was in the same courtroom that Wan was sentenced to die six years before.

United States Attorney Peyton Gordon arose from the counsel table at 10:05 o'clock and began the brief talk that was to mean freedom for Wan. Addressing Justice Adolph Hoehling, he recalled that Wan had been tried three times; that in the second trial the jury had stood 10 to 2 for acquittal and in the third trial 9 to 3 for acquittal. He then suggested that in the "interest of the public" it would be wise to nolle prosequere the entire case.

Justice Hoehling, who would have been called upon to sentence Wan to die, had the last jury found him guilty, replied that he thought the suggestion of the district attorney was "proper," and he formally ordered that the indictment against Wan and Van be nolle prosequere.

As he delivered his statement, Justice Hoehling wore a benign smile.

Congratulated by Attorney.

Wan, who was sitting at the counsel table, apparently did not know it was all over. He knew it a moment later, however, for Rudolph M. Yeaman, one of his attorneys, grasped his hand and began to pump it.

The next one to congratulate

You probably will be told that it is "as good as Buick", but investigate. See if it is!

Does it have a "sealed chassis"? Has it a torque-tube drive? Has it mechanical 4-wheel brakes? Has it a ten-plate, multiple-disc clutch? Has it a Fisher body? Has it adequate and efficient nation-wide service facilities? Has it more than a million enthusiastic owners?

When anyone offers you more for your used car than it will sell for on the used car market, compare the new car offered you to Buick.

SCHALL, DECLARED ELECTED, BITTERLY ASSAILS HIS FOES

Senate Is Stunned by Sharp Attack on Magnus Johnson and Backers.

ASHURST TRIES IN VAIN TO HALT BLIND MEMBER

Declares Opponent Is Only Marionette for Sinister Forces of State.

(By Associated Press.)

The Senate was stunned yesterday by the impact of a vitriolic verbal bombshell fired by Thomas D. Schall (Republican), who had just been declared the duly elected junior senator from Minnesota.

Former Senator Magnus Johnson (Farmer-Labor) had contested his election.

Midway in the reading of a clerk of a speech by the blind senator, following the Senate's acceptance of the election committee's unanimous report recommending the seating of Senator Schall and the dismissal of contest, Senator Ashurst (Democrat), Arizona, appealed to him to withdraw his remarks on the ground that, "as the years roll on, he will regret this speech."

Schall, however, insisting upon the "right to be heard for four minutes at least," declined to accede and insisted upon the clerk continuing until all but the conclusion had been read. "He said he would be 'satisfied' if the rest," which would not take more than a minute," were included in the record. The concluding paragraph declared that "so far as Magnus is concerned he never knew what it was all about—he was only the marionette who kicked and waved his hands and opened his mouth according to the tension of the string."

"However, he must have known," Senator Schall's speech said, "that the petition that he was induced to sign was false, else he would have gone on the stand in substantiation of the pretended charges. I do not believe that a man whose morality is so blunted that he will allow his name to be used for criminal libel is a fit kind for any office."

Says Means Mostly Foul.

The speech declared that Senator Schall had been opposed by a sinister influence with its vast power distributed throughout the State, with all its strength by fair and foul means, mostly foul, in the last election, and was "manifestly enraged at my victory."

Schall's speech began by referring to the contest as "the first move in a well thought out and extensively organized, highly financed plan of malicious character assassination, calculated to accomplish my defeat next election."

"The committee," it continued, "was unduly considerate and extremely fair to every one but me in letting in nefarious, manufactured, hearsay slander and unworn declarations of an unprincipled attorney. Suffering these outrageous and unfounded accusations, I did not then realize, as I do now, that the best way to get rid of skunks is to allow them to come out and open where you can get a shot at them. The framers of this persecution attained no positive results except to hold me and smear me with their slime." Donald Hughes, Johnson's attorney, declared Senator Schall, was "well known as a conscienceless hyster, and was placed in charge of the case because of his cunning, rat-tion and because the State was so large and so thickly populated.

Mr. Flynn said he knew of no corruption in connection with the primary campaign.

Magistrate Francis X. O'Connor, of Philadelphia, was the first evening witness after a day which brought no change in the total amount of expenditures, but developed spectacular sideline inquiries.

A report published in the Philadelphia Public Ledger was responsible for the calling of Mr. O'Connor. He was quoted as saying that Vane offered him $150,000 to withdraw from the race in his district for member of Congress.

Mr. O'Connor said the story was not true, that he had never been offered anything to withdraw, that Vane was not a relative of Mr. Vane's.

He added that he had seen no reporter on the night in question, whereupon Senator Reed asked the representative of the Philadelphia Public Ledger here to inform his office and arrange to have the reporter come and testify. Mr. O'Connor said he knew of no corruption. The registration lists had been purged of thousands of names, he added, but these were names of persons who had died or moved away.

Opponents Had Popular Side.

After Ed Martin, secretary of the Vane Pittsburgh headquarters, had submitted his books and checks and records, Mr. Heber Dittmer, chairman of the Pepper-Fisher committee in Allegheny county, was called to the stand.

He explained the organization, submitted his budget and admitted that W. L. Mellon approved it before operations began. The speech of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in Pittsburgh, he said, "saved the day in western Pennsylvania. But the opposition had the 'popular side of the issue,' he said, with respect to Volsteadism, 'and we lost.'"

The feature of the afternoon was the committee's inquiry into accounts which the Pittsburgh Press published of "wide-open conditions" prevailing in that city in the interest of the Pepper-Fisher campaign and reports of a speech alleged to have been made by Vane at Pittsburgh. This speech, referred to as "a broad and butted speech to city workers," was presented in the newspaper as threatening these workers with dismissal unless they supported the Pepper-Fisher ticket.

Schall, of Missouri, chairman, read the alleged speech into the record, and W. A. White, city editor of the newspaper, appeared as a witness and testified that the speech was published from stenographic notes supplied by A. W. Brown, reporter who was sent to cover the story.

Mayor Kline, when called to the stand, testified that he had talked with Albert Cooper in Harrisburg, Pa., was made the subject of inquiry by the committee yesterday morning. Mr. Mackrell talked from a room adjoining the committee room and word respecting the nature of the conversation reached the committee.

Fears for Own Job.

Mr. Mackrell, called to the stand unexpectedly, testified that he had talked with Albert Cooper in Harrisburg, Pa., was made the subject of inquiry by the committee yesterday morning. Mr. Mackrell talked from a room adjoining the committee room and word respecting the nature of the conversation reached the committee.

The early testimony of Mr. Mackrell related to the control which the Vane political machine had in Philadelphia. In the Fourth ward, for example, Vane received 4,539 votes, Pepper 39 and Pinchot 3.

The committee was surprised at the vote cast for Pinchot, and it was intimated that the ward leaders likewise might have been surprised that Pinchot had received even three votes. In other words, the gist of Mr. Mackrell's testimony was that the people in these wards were overwhelmingly for Vane and that the organization worked to produce as near a 100 per cent Vane return as possible.

ROTARIANS NOMINATE OFFICERS AT DENVER

Washington Club Hears Talk on the Work of Standards Bureau.

Denver, Colo., June 16 (By A. P.).—Harry R. Rogers, San Antonio, Tex.; Arthur R. Sapp, Huntington, Ind.; and Thomas J. Davis, Butte, Mont., were nominated for president of Rotary International at the seventeenth annual convention of the organization here today.

The election will be held tomorrow. Rufus J. Chapin, Chicago, treasurer since 1912, was unopposed.

The vast savings to the government that are made possible through the bureau of standards were explained by Dr. George K. Burgess, director of that office, to members of the Rotary club in the Willard hotel yesterday. Dr. Burgess stated that his department endeavors to assist individuals and industries in their research work, saving them in the end many thousands of dollars.

J. H. Cunningham, president of the club, appointed O. R. Evans, chairman of the golf committee, and instructed him to make plans for a club tournament to be held in the near future. Frank Saul, who entertained the club last week, was unanimously thanked by the club. Music was furnished by Henry Goldstein.

Rockville Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses have been issued in Rockville to LeClair E. Keen, 22, years old, of Takoma Park, Md., and Miss Helen E. Metten, 22, of Glendale, Calif., and Benjamin I. Lertz, 27, of Washington, and Miss Elizabeth Julia Garrett, 25, of Alexandria, Va.

Prohibition Commissioner Baird removed to Philadelphia, he said, and beer became good in Pittsburgh. Saloons, speakeasies, irregular clubs and places in the red light district opened up on a large scale and then appeared Pepper and Fisher political literature.

Mr. Kury said he was certain about the political literature, but not sure that intoxicating liquors were being sold, as he had not himself partaken of any. But he saw liquids served out of near-beer bottles, he said.

Jacob Schorr, president of the Merchants Association of Norristown and identified with the young people's political organization there, appeared in response to a committee subpoena. The committee, it was developed, was advised that he "knew all about the raising of money by the merchants," but the witness said this was a mistake and that he knew nothing along that line, though he had spent $40 of his own money. He was excused.

A long-distance telephone conversation which Joseph N. Mackrell, registrar of wills for Allegheny county and a supporter of the Vane-Beldeman ticket, had with Harrisburg, Pa., was made the subject of inquiry by the committee yesterday morning. Mr. Mackrell talked from a room adjoining the committee room and word respecting the nature of the conversation reached the committee.

The committee was surprised at the vote cast for Pinchot, and it was intimated that the ward leaders likewise might have been surprised that Pinchot had received even three votes. In other words, the gist of Mr. Mackrell's testimony was that the people in these wards were overwhelmingly for Vane and that the organization worked to produce as near a 100 per cent Vane return as possible.

Mr. Mackrell, called to the stand unexpectedly, testified that he had talked with Albert Cooper in Harrisburg, Pa., was made the subject of inquiry by the committee yesterday morning. Mr. Mackrell talked from a room adjoining the committee room and word respecting the nature of the conversation reached the committee.

The early testimony of Mr. Mackrell related to the control which the Vane political machine had in Philadelphia. In the Fourth ward, for example, Vane received 4,539 votes, Pepper 39 and Pinchot 3.

CHILE TO ORDER TROOPS BACK TO TACNA-ARICA

Tacna and Arica remains absolute until there is a plebiscite to ascertain the wishes of the population, as envisaged in the arbitral award of President Coolidge.

The plebiscitary commission today approved three resolutions, the first calling for the liquidation of the business of the commission and the others approving reports of the complaints committee of attacks by Chileans upon Peruvians. Another meeting has been called for Friday for ratification of today's resolutions, and a meeting is expected to be held on Sunday at which the commission will be dissolved.

The Pacific, Chilean paper, in an editorial demands the return of the province of Tarata to Chile, asserting that if the plebiscite is not to be held the secondary provisions of the arbitrator's award also are voided.

Tarata, at the extreme northern tip of Chile, was formally turned over to Peru last September as the first step in fulfillment of President Coolidge's arbitral award. The transfer caused rejoicing in Peru and patriotic exercises were held throughout the country.

money had been lavished to achieve the effect she desired.

Two children, Marjory and Virginia, were born of their marriage, both of whom were awarded to Mrs. Stokes when she obtained her Paris divorce. Disagreement between Mr. and Mrs. Stokes came some time before the divorce.

Mrs. Holcombe's home in Massachusetts avenue, known as the pink palace, is one of the show residences of the city and is lavishly furnished and decorated. Here many society parties were given. Others were given on board the Genesee, the yacht owned by Mr. Stokes, which was brought here. The yacht recently was wrecked off Florida.

Mrs. Holcombe inherited many millions of dollars from her father.

G. J. Gould Estate Shrinks $8,000,000

New York, June 16 (By A. P.).—A shrinkage of nearly $8,000,000 in the estate of the late George J. Gould is shown in an accounting on file in the Ocean county orphans' court at Toms River, N. J., the New York World will say tomorrow.

The accounting has been on file for several months, but was only revealed today when argument on it was postponed in the court.

The accounting, filed by Kingston Gould and Schuyler Nelson Rice as executors, revealed that principal and income totaled only $12,371,419 in September, 1925, as compared with an estimate of $20,000,000 at the time of Mr. Gould's death in May, 1925.

HER DAUGHTER SUFFERED WITH AWFUL HEADACHES

Mother Sent Away For A Tube Of Tablets She Saw Advertised

DAUGHTER NEVER HAS HEADACHES ANYMORE

"My daughter suffered agony every now and then with fearful headaches which nearly drove her mad and made her irritable, cross and half sick, but, thank goodness, I read an advertisement telling about these wonderful tablets being put out by the Harper Company and sat right down and sent them 25 cents in stamps for a tube. The tablets came in the next mail and the very next day my daughter had one of those awful spells. She'd tried everything and didn't believe they would help her, but in just a few minutes—like magic—the headache went away. They are wonderful," declares a lady in Virginia.

PIGEON WING IS SLAYER AT LATONIA

Idle Thoughts Tipped at Aurora

Porridge Is Picked to Graduate in Maiden Race at Kentucky.

Handicapper Favors Al Stebler in Third at Fairmount.

By BERT E. COLLYER.

SLEEPERS. Some real good things which are due to be awakened suddenly at the various tracks and come rolling home at fair odds. Just listen to your Uncle Betram and hop to them in the fifth spasm at LATONIA. PIGEON WING II will be passed up in favor of MALCOLM B. JR., but that makes no never mind. Just remember that there are days and days, but this is the day.

For the maiden race tips galore are floating about the paddock. PORRIDGE, FLORIDA GOLD, DEARBORN and the ANDERSON & KENDLE ENTRY are just some of the hot ones that are being handed out. When the smoke of battle clears away, however, it probably will find PORRIDGE as the lucky graduate.

Around Song Bird alley all one can hear is that IDLE THOUGHTS is going to bring home the bacon at Aurora in the second race. Milton Well, the music publisher, recently purchased this racer. He has a $500 commission riding, and I don't mean maybe. This is good enough for me. Just follow the dough and you will never sleep in the streets.

Members of my $10,000 a month ship over at Fairmount send me TRAPDALE as the best thing of the day. This one goes in the third race.

ON AN Expenseless Vacation

This is Station GAAG. Vacation time is here. Everybody desires a wonderful vacation they can look back to for years. They want to travel, live at the best hotels and to enjoy every minute. However, many of us are unable to do this without knocking our bank account in the head. Therefore we have invented a plan whereby 20 individuals can enjoy a most wonderful vacation as our guests.

We will give them reserved seats to all the WORLD SERIES games, pay their railway fare and their hotel bills. We will even buy all their meals so the vacation will be complete. The worry of expenses will be on us.

We will be pleased to hear from any of our listeners that are interested in making a trip of this kind. We can be called by phone at Main 4205, Br. 17.

Station Go-As-A-Guest Signing off. Good day.

SUSPICIONS

AFTER TALKING TO MISS MAS-CARA AND TONY, GLADYS REED BECOMES CONVINCED THAT SOMETHING TERRIBLE HAS HAPPENED TO JOE -

HE HASN'T BEEN HOME OR TO HIS OFFICE!

I CAN NO UNDERSTAND!

HE NEARLY HAD A FIGHT WITH PAPA YESTERDAY - I DON'T SEE WHY PAPA TOLD HIM HE WASN'T WORKING ON AN INVENTION IN THE BASEMENT, WHEN I KNOW HE IS!!

AN HOUR LATER, GLADYS VISITS THE OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF POLICE AND TELLS HIM OF HER SUSPICIONS

OF COURSE, IM NOT ABSOLUTELY SURE, CHIEF!!

WELL, MISS, IT'S WORTH TRYING! I'LL HAVE MY MEN THERE READY FOR ANY EMERGENCY!

GLADYS NOW GOES TO BO-LON'S FLAT AND OPENLY ACCUSES HIM OF KNOWING WHAT HAS BECOME OF JOE -

TELL ME THE TRUTH NOW!

DA TRUTH IS - YOU ONE PRETTY GAL AN' I JUS' CRAZ ABOUT YOU!

MEANWHILE JOE DISCOVERS A PIECE OF GLASS FROM THE BROKEN WINDOW AND MANAGES TO CUT THE ROPE ON HIS WRISTS

SOON FREE JOE SEIZES A HEAVY STICK AND ATTACKS THE COUNTERFEITERS - SINGLE-HANDED

HE'S UNTIED - QUICK, KILL HIM - HE MUST NEVER LEAVE HERE ALIVE!

DONT MISS THE ESCAPE HERE TO-MORROW

GASOLINE ALLEY

WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF IT, MR. WICKER? I WAS IN THE NEXT PHONE BOOT AND HE SAID THEY'D NEED TWO MORE THEY COULD DEPEND ON AND GAVE MY WEDDING DATE, JUNE 24th.

IT MAY HAVE TO DO WITH YOU, WALT, OR IT MAY BE JUST A COINCIDENCE.

"NO SLIP THIS TIME" HE SAID. IT SOUNDED FUNNY TO ME. DON'T WANT ANYTHING TO HAPPEN TO OUR WEDDING DAY.

WELL DON'T YOU WORRY, I'LL PUT A COUPLE OF MY SLEUTHS ONTO IT AND THEY'LL GET THE GOODS AND REPORT.

YES, YOU KNOW I'M STILL VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE GIMLET DETECTIVE AGENCY AND I'LL SEE THAT NOBODY BOTHERS YOU OR PHYLLIS OR SKEEZIX.

THANK YOU, MR. WICKER. THAT'S A LOAD OFF MY MIND. DON'T BOTHER ABOUT ME BUT LOOK OUT FOR THE OTHER TWO.

KID DUGAN—Asbestos Gets The Dope On The Dope

WE GOT A PAR LOAN DOWN ON PARIS GREEN, NOW, SO WE GOT TO WIN, IF YOU SLIP, ASBESTOS, AND WE LOSE THIS FIGHT, I DON'T KNOW WHAT WE'RE GOING TO USE FOR MONEY

HERE'S THE STUFF, JUST ADD WATER AND SERVE. IT HAS NO TASTE. TAKE IT AND YOU COULD FALL INTO A DEEP SLEEP WHILE THE DENTIST IS TICKLING THE NERVE OF A SORE TOOTH WITH A STEEL DRILL

I SLIPPED SOME OF THIS STUFF TO A HORSE ONCE AND HE LOST ALL INTEREST IN THE RACE IN THE STRETCH, AND THEY JUST GOT HIM THROUGH THE HOLE IN HIS BARN BEFORE HE FELL SOUND ASLEEP

NOW YOU TAKE THIS AND SEE THAT THE KID GETS IT. SNEAK OUT THE BACK WAY, AND IF YOU SEE US BETWEEN NOW AND THE FIGHT, ACT LIKE YOU HAD SORE EYES, AND IT HURT YOU TO LOOK AT US

ELLA CINDERS—Two Minds, One Thought

AFTER HAVING AS MANY UPS AND DOWNS AS A COCKTAIL SHAKER, ROMANCE HAS FINALLY COME INTO MY LIFE BUT IT'S ALL WOUND WITH RED-TAPE!

WHAT A STRANGE POSITION FOR ME TO BE IN—GUARDIAN OF THE GIRL WHO INTERESTS ME MORE THAN HER INTERESTS—AND MORE THAN ANY OTHER IN THE WORLD!

IMAGINE HAVING TO HAVE A REASON FOR BEING ENGAGED—AND A BUSINESS REASON, AT THAT! THAT MAKES IT AS ROMANTIC AS CORNED BEEF AND CABBAGE! I WONDER IF—I WISH—OH, GRAPEJUICE! WHAT'S THE USE!

THE MORE I SEE OF HER, THE MORE IT PUTS A NEW FACE ON THE MATTER. I DON'T WANT TO BE THE KIND OF FIANCEE WHO WRITES FIGURES INSTEAD OF LOVE LETTERS, WHO HANDS OUT CHECKS INSTEAD OF KISSES! IT DOES GIVE ME A TURN! MY MIND'S MADE UP, AND WIN OR LOSE, I'LL PUT MY FATE AND OUR FUTURE IN HER HANDS!

Winnie Winkle, THE BREADWINNER:

STEVE WHARTON TOOK ME TO A SHOW LAST NIGHT AN' FOR ONCE IN HIS LIFE HE GOT GOOD SEATS! WE SAT IN TH' SECOND ROW ORCHESTRA! I SAVED TH' STUBS TO SHOW YA!

OH PAT, WILL YOU LEND ME THOSE SEAT CHECKS PLEASE? I WANT TO USE THEM!

HERE COMES MR. SCHWARZ! I'LL JUST LET HIM SEE THESE STUBS AND MAYBE HE'LL TAKE THE HINT!

ONE OF MY BOY FRIENDS TOOK ME TO A SHOW LAST NIGHT AND I HAD AN ADORABLE TIME! HE'S SUCH A SPENDTHRIFT THOUGH—LOOK WHERE WE SAT, MR. SCHWARZ!

SECOND ROW, WHA? BUT GOSH, MISS WINKLE, I DIDN'T THINK YOU WOULD CARE FOR A BURLESQUE SHOW!!

TRACTION SITUATION FORECAST AS MAJOR TOPIC FOR INQUIRY

Resolutions for Exhaustive
District Investigation Are Revived.

BELL SAYS UTILITY
BOARD READY TO ACT

Declares That Commissioners
Could Regard Both Lines as One.

The local traction situation will be one of the major subjects to come in for exhaustive inquiry by a joint congressional committee during the recess, it was indicated yesterday.

All indications point to action looking to a joint committee survey of the District, its government and matters relating to it, after the present session has adjourned. Resolutions providing for such an inquiry were introduced in both the Senate and House several weeks ago, when the charges were first made against Commissioner Penning.

In the Senate there is one sponsored by Senator King, of Utah, while in the House there is one pending by Representative Blanton, of Texas. Both have been revived by the recommendation of the House District subcommittee that inasmuch as it had only scratched the surface, there should be a more thorough study of local affairs by a full-powered committee this summer. The subcommittee was hampered, it was pointed out, by the fact that it did not have the authority to subpoena witnesses.

Senator Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee, and Chairman Zihlman, of the House District committee, have discussed the advisability of a summer investigation.

Legislation Next Session.

Legislation dealing with the traction companies undoubtedly will be in order at the next session, Senator Capper said yesterday, and if the joint inquiry is made it will be one of the principal subjects of study.

Engineer Commissioner J. Franklin Bell said yesterday that if Congress did not see fit to enact legislation to compel a merger, he would ask that it simply authorize the public utilities commission to bring about a merger.

The public utilities commission, Col. Bell said, could force the companies to unite by abolishing transfers and by refusing to listen to the pleas of one company that line extensions granted to another company tapped its territory.

The bill creating a new public utilities commission, of which Col. Bell would be a member, is expected to be passed by the Senate this week. The commission would be composed of the engineer commissioner and members to be appointed by the President. It also would have a "people's counsel."

St. John's College Wins C.M.T.C. Honor

With an enrollment of over 42 per cent of its total attendance in the Citizens Military Training camp, St. John's college has won the C. M. T. C. pennant contest, according to a bulletin published yesterday. Western leads all local public high schools with a percentage of 10.6. The C. M. T. C. pennant, donated by Saks & Co., will therefore be awarded St. John's, while Western will receive a pennant from the Capitol Athletic Co. as the leading Washington high school.

The percentage scores as announced yesterday are as follows: St. John's college, 42.5; Alexandria High school, 21; Western High school, 10.6; Business High school, 8.2; Central High school, 6.3; McKinley High school, 6; Devitt school, 4.6; Eastern High school, 1.8. About 100 vacancies are still open to the District of Columbia and adjacent counties in Virginia and Maryland. Special instruction will be provided in track, football, baseball, speedball, swimming and boxing. Training will begin in three weeks.

Commissions Discuss New U. S. Buildings

Detailed plans regarding new government buildings in the Capital, will be discussed at a joint meeting of the Fine Arts and Public Buildings commissions at the Senate office building today. The Justice and Commerce buildings will probably be the next considered, relative to site.

In the afternoon, the Commission of Fine Arts will consider the projected new police court building, designs for uniform street decoration, flags, the Pawhuska, Okla., and Pittsburgh, N. Y., memorials and the Navy and Marine memorial for East Potomac park, and may visit sites of northeast park projects.

Brent-Dent Parents Oppose School Plan

Members of the Brent-Dent Parent-Teacher association last night voted unanimously against the proposal to lengthen the school day in the public schools and to hold classes Saturday at a special meeting called for discussion of the plan.

Two hundred and fifteen were present and all voted against the proposed measure. P. G. Shomette, commander of Gen. Miles camp, No. 1, Spanish War Veterans, spoke at length in opposition to the plan. He declared that he would urge his organization also to go on record as opposed to the alleged reform.

Five Washingtonians Get U. of P. Degrees

Five Washington students were among those to receive degrees at the commencement exercises of the University of Pennsylvania, held yesterday in Weightman hall, the university gymnasium.

The degree of bachelor of science in economics was awarded Karl Emmerich, 1847 Calvert street northwest; Samuel R. Pasternack, 5103 Forty-first street northwest; Bernard L. Wilner, 2803 Connecticut avenue northwest, and Alvin David, 2834 Twenty-seventh street northwest. William A. Jack, 2255 Cathedral avenue northwest, received the degree of bachelor of science in chemical engineering. Jack, Pasternack, Wilner and David are graduates of Central High school, while Emmerich is a graduate of Western.

MRS. SYME CLEARED IN AUTOMOBILE DEATH

Jury Finds Lawyer's Wife Is Blameless in Killing of Minister's Daughter.

Mrs. Conrad Syme, wife of the former corporation counsel, was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday, from blame in the fatal injuries received by Janet Farnham, 2 years old, daughter of the Rev. George L. Farnham, pastor of the Cleveland Park Congregational church, when she was struck and knocked down by Mrs. Syme's automobile Monday on Macomb street near Connecticut avenue northwest. The jury held that the accident was unavoidable after testimony showed that Mrs. Syme's brakes were in perfect order and it was testified that the child darted suddenly in front of the automobile. Coroner J. Ramsey Nevitt presided at the hearing.

A coroner's jury rendered a verdict of death by accident in the death of Charles W. Abell, of Baltimore, who died in Emergency hospital Tuesday as the result of injuries received when he fell down an elevator shaft at the New National museum. Silas Jefferson, alias Brother Galer, colored, 48 years old, of 921 Twenty-seventh street northwest, was held for the action of the grand jury by a coroner's jury, which held him responsible for the death of Henry I. Hopkins, 40 years old, of 3801 Wyndon street northwest. Jefferson is alleged to have pushed Hopkins from a porch in front of the Twenty-seventh street address, causing injuries which resulted in the death of Hopkins Monday at Emergency hospital.

CAPITOL TOUR MADE BY HAITIAN PRESIDENT

Informal Reception in Senate and a Visit to House
Marks Day.

President Borno, of Haiti, continued yesterday his study of American governmental machinery, visiting the Capitol, where he was received by Vice President Dawes, and saw the Senate convene and the House at work, the Interior Department, where he was received by Secretary Work, and the bureau of standards, where he was shown about the laboratories.

His day ended last night with a dinner given in his honor by Haitian Minister Hannibal Price in Wardman Park hotel. Vice President Dawes received the visiting president in his private office off the Senate chamber, and there was an impromptu reception at which several Senators were present to the visiting president. Washington's beauty afforded the principal topic of discussion in the course of the reception, President Borno declaring Washington one of the most beautiful of the large cities. Vice President Dawes declared its present beauty would be materially enhanced through planned developments of the park system of the National Capital.

Man, Stabbed, Dies; Police Hold Woman

Amanda Butler, colored, is being held at the house of detention charged with murder as the result of the death yesterday of William T. Young, also colored, at Emergency hospital. According to police, Young was stabbed Saturday night in an altercation with the Butler woman in a house at 1034 Twenty-ninth street northwest.

Butler's death yesterday started an investigation by Headquarters Detective Dennis J. Cullhane, which resulted in the arrest of the Butler woman. The woman told police that Young had accused her of breaking an engagement with him and had knocked her down. She admits, police say, having grasped some weapon, presumably a knife, and fighting back. An inquest will be held today.

McKinley Alumni at Picnic. Cool weather contributed to the success of the picnic of the McKinley High school alumni, held yesterday at Glen Echo park. Baseball, races and other athletic events featured the outing.

DISTRICT FILES SUIT FOR $10,000 DAMAGE

Myers and Bonding Company
Defendants in Action
Charging Breach.

The District of Columbia filed suit yesterday in circuit court against Charles E. Myers and the Massachusetts Bonding Co., to recover $10,000 damages for alleged breach of contract, and alleged breach of the conditions of the bond underwritten by the bonding concern.

According to the declaration presented by Assistant Corporation Counsel Ringgold Hart, the defendant Myers contracted with the District on July 11, 1924, to sell his property in square 811— which is bounded by E and F streets, and Fourth and Fifth streets northeast, the site of the old brewery, for $150,000 and to clear the site.

He failed to carry out his contract to remove the walls, buildings and other obstructions, particularly the vaults, it is alleged. The District then contracted to have the debris and obstructions removed, it is stated. The site is to be used for a junior high school.

Route to Shenandoah Will Be Discussed

Plans for a boulevard connection between Washington and the proposed Shenandoah National park will be outlined at a luncheon of the Lee Highway association tomorrow at the City club. Arrangements will also be made for a meeting in the Washington auditorium June 30, at which time announcements will be made of the route for the first 7 miles out of Washington. The meeting June 30 will be featured as the public inauguration of the new boulevard. There will be no admission fee and no appeal for funds. It is understood that President Coolidge will be asked to attend.

Man Charges Wife Annoys Him.

Harry J. Daugherty, special officer at the Wardman Park hotel, filed suit yesterday in equity court against Mrs. Katherine E. Daugherty for a limited divorce. Through Attorneys Frank J. Kelly and Cedric F. Johnson, he also asks the court to issue a restraining order against Mrs. Daugherty to prevent her annoying them. Daugherty married August 22, 1907, and has two children. He says his wife has unjustly accused him of being unfaithful.

WOMAN POLICE BILL SHORN OF POWERS BY HOUSE MEMBERS

District Committee Establishes Bureau by Law and Defines Its Functions.

MADE SIMPLY BRANCH
UNDER SUPERINTENDENT

Permitted to Make No Investigations; Force Increased From 31 to 61.

The House District committee yesterday turned strongly against Lieut. Mina C. Van Winkle in her efforts to have enacted a model law setting up a woman's bureau as a sort of police-judicial-social welfare organization.

Instead, the committee decided to make the bureau strictly a police organization and to establish it by law as such.

The committee, it was made known, took this action after it had withstood the nation-wide campaign of the international police-women's bureau, of which Mrs. Van Winkle is president, as long as it could. Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey, was a prime mover in the bill that was finally worked out.

In voting to establish the bureau by law the committee harked back to Mrs. Van Winkle's oft-expressed contention that this was the main purpose of her bill.

Functions are Defined.

Instead of adopting the broad language defining the bureau's functions now in the police manual and under which it is charged the bureau has sought to take the place of the juvenile court and the board of children's guardians, the committee defined its functions definitely as those of a police organization without judicial duties or prerogatives.

The purpose of the bureau, the bill prescribed, is to do preventive and protective work and to exercise the function of the police in the cases of women and children, whether offenders or victims of offenses, and the offenses must be those defined by laws or regulations of the District.

Briefly, the bureau is to exercise the same functions in regard to women and children as policemen exercise in regard to men.

The police manual language which would have given the bureau authority to "investigate neighborhood conditions, hotels, rooming houses, public dance halls, restaurants, and the like, was stricken from the bill.

Under Chief of Police.

The director and members of the bureau will be directly under the superintendent of police. The bureau will be a branch of the police organization just as the traffic bureau or the detective bureau.

This feature is in line with the thought of the committee that there should be only one "police force" in so far as the District proper is concerned. The policemen are to be subject to the same regulations and discipline as the police. In so far as it is consistent with the spirit of the law, and they are to receive the same pay as the policemen. Provisions requiring that the director must be a trained social worker and that the policemen must be graduates of a high school were all stricken from the bill.

Instead, it was provided that all except the director and assistant director, to be appointed by the commissioners, shall be governed by civil service regulations.

Her Force Increased

An increase in personnel from the present force of 31 to 61 was granted Mrs. Van Winkle had sought. In the place of the provision for one office secretary, six stenographers, three typists and other assistants, the committee provided for such clerical force as may be provided from time to time by Congress.

At the instance of Chairman Zihlman, the bill was shorn of its provisions which would have made the director an assistant superintendent of police, and would have given her assistant the rank of captain. These officials retain their present rank.

Representative Hammer, of North Carolina, started a discussion as to the advisability of having the policemen wear uniforms but this plan was not pressed.

The filibustering tactics which have heretofore been manifested against the measure will now give way, it was indicated, to a whole-hearted movement to press it through to enactment, in an effort to settle for once and all the problem which has faced the committee for the past several sessions. The proponents of the bill finally adopted had seen in the original measure a threat not only at the judiciary, but a dangerous combination of police powers with the prerogatives of social welfare workers.

Marine Put on Trial For Guard's Death

Corp. John Kulick, United States marine corps, was placed on trial yesterday before Justice Stafford and a jury in criminal court on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the shooting of Private John Ban, also of the marine corps, in the guardhouse at the marine barracks on November 8, 1925. Ban and Kulick, it is said, became involved in a controversy after Ban refused to get up out of bed. According to the opening statement of Assistant Attorney John W. Philby, Kulick struck the first blow and then shot Ban in the head. According to the regulations, Mr. Philby said, Ban had a right to sleep as long as he wanted, and should not have been disturbed that morning.
